

Weather Patterns and Jet Streams Fit Perfectly on a Flat Earth

Exhibit 11 – Weather Patterns and Jet Streams Fit Perfectly on a Flat Earth

Have you ever noticed that the jet streams and weather patterns plotted on a globe or a recognized map make absolutely no sense. Take those same jet streams and weather patterns and place them on a flat Earth map and see what happens. Ocean currents and temperature patterns form concentric circles that fit perfectly where the Sun and Moon make their spiral rotations around the flat Earth. Moreover, because the Sun and Moon are plowing through the atmosphere (flat Earth model) approximately at the equator circle, it make sense as to why storms often spin in opposing directions in the northern and southern hemispheres.

Admiral Byrd

Exhibit 17 – Admiral Byrd

Admiral Byrd (1888-1957) was a well-respected naval officer, aviator, and explorer. In the video below, Admiral Byrd discussed an astonishing discovery on the “other side” of the South Pole in Antarctica – an unexplored and the “most valuable” land mass greater in size than the United States with plentiful resources, especially coal. Admiral Byrd’s testimony certainly does not fit the globe model of Antarctica and raises a very possible reason of the deception – i.e., to hide land from the people and keep the people psychologically locked behind make-believe fencing. Shortly after Admiral Byrd’s statements, Antarctica was shut down by treaty to all commercial ventures. No country has ever tried to challenge the treaty even at the height of the Cold War and its borders remain guarded with warships.

Airline and Submarine Pilots Do Not Account for Curvature

Exhibit 4 – Airline and Submarine Pilots Do Not Account for Curvature

If the Earth was a sphere, airplane pilots would have to constantly correct their altitudes by dipping their nose downward to account for the curvature of the Earth. At a normal cruising speed of 500 mph, a commercial airplane pilot would have to repeatedly dip the nose of the plane downwards and descend 2,777 feet every minute (approximately 50 feet per second) or the plane would quickly fly into space. Airplane pilots never perform this action.

Gravity doesn't solve this problem because gravity could supposedly pull the entire plane down but could not pull the nose downward more than the rest of the plane. So, even if gravity could somehow keep the plane at the same altitude around a spinning ball, the nose of the plane would eventually be pointing towards space. The lack of curvature can be tested yourself – get on a small airplane and level it out in the air and pay no attention to the horizon as you just maintain that exact same angle of flight. After about 45 minutes, if the spherical model is correct you should have to make a correction of nearly 6,000 feet to return to the same altitude; instead you will remain perfectly level with the ground.

Submarine captains say the same thing – they make the submarine level and maintain that angle for hundreds if not thousands of miles and never accidentally launch out of the ocean due to a failure to consider curvature.

As shown in the video below, at a distance of 200 miles (only 30 minutes of flight) a jet would be 5.1 miles higher than when it started if the jet flew level. Could you imagine how difficult it would be to keep nudging the nose downward when you're just a few dozen feet over the surface. How does gravity account for this when the aircraft are at widely varying heights and speeds?

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=QYXTL9quoUM>

This next video is popular on YouTube and details an airline pilot's experience with seeing objects that should be well beyond the curvature and other facts supporting a flat Earth (start at 4:29 to skip the boring introduction).

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=VaUBrui9L1I>

Here, a flight instructor confirmed that he flies over a flat Earth (the interview starts at 11:40; at 31:00 the pilot says that even flying distances of up to 300 miles that nothing changes with respect to an alleged curvature).

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=8TL30VW5hJY>

An experienced retired NAVY submarine Chief confirmed that no curvature is taken into account as he helps pilot submarines over hundreds of miles at flat levels below the ocean (at 10:45, the submarine Chief confirmed the same via an introductory letter; the interview starts roughly at 11:15).

Airy's Failure

Exhibit 24 – Airy's Failure

In 1871, G.B. Airy used a telescope filled with water as an intended method to slow the light of stars to confirm the heliocentric model. Unfortunately for the globulists, Airy's water-filled telescope failed to prove the Copernican model and confirmed geocentricism. Of course, "official" excuses are out there but the "failed" test results remain.

Antarctica – The Only Closed Continent

Exhibit 47 – Antarctica – The Only Closed Continent

Touring the depths of Antarctica is generally prohibited by treaty (why no commercial ventures where there are vast mineral deposits). No one has unfettered access to Antarctica. No commercial flights are ever taken across Antarctica. Independent explorers who have attempted to explore Antarctica have been arrested. Yes, there are unreasonably expensive tours to Antarctica but such tours stay at the periphery of Antarctica.

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=8skhK2tMpjk>

Antarctica is treated as a giant nature preserve. To explore or traverse Antarctica, you not only need a permit, which entails a close examination of your purpose, parties, credentials, backing, etc., you must also submit an environmental impact statement and much more. Also, you're required to avoid substantial amounts of land. This renders Antarctica explorations virtually impossible for anyone outside "official" sources.

If you want to travel to Antarctica you must complete the following form (DS-4131 "Advance Notification Form – Tourist and Other Non-Governmental Activities in the Antarctic Treaty Area"):

https://eforms.state.gov/editdocument.aspx?documentid=4&from=2&categoryid=1&form_format=3&Width=1506

Once you submit the form, "The Department of State, in consultation with the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and the National Science Foundation (NSF), will then determine whether the expedition is subject to U.S. jurisdiction. If we determine that the expedition falls under U.S. jurisdiction, we will provide information on how to proceed with the EPA and NSF documentation processes, which are mandatory under U.S. law."

<https://travel.state.gov/content/passports/en/country/antarctica.html>

The Antarctica Treaty and the Antarctic Conservation Act requires expeditions from the U.S. to Antarctica to notify, in advance, the Office of Oceans and Polar Affairs of the State Department, which reports such plans to other nations as required by the Antarctic Treaty. This means that if you want to go to Antarctica as a non-government organization, you must first obtain a permit from the State Department.

Here is one of the chapters from the handbook administering the Antarctica Treaty laws for non-government organizations (for each chapter of the handbook, see <http://www.state.gov/e/oes/rls/rpts/ant/index.htm>):

- <http://www.state.gov/documents/organization/15279.pdf>

"A) PROTECT ANTARCTIC WILDLIFE 1) Taking or harmful interference with Antarctic wildlife is prohibited except in accordance with a permit issued by a national authority. 2) Do not use aircraft, vessels, small boats, or other means of transport in ways that disturb wildlife, either at sea or on land. 3) Do not feed, touch, or handle birds or seals, or approach or photograph them in ways that cause them to alter their behavior. Special care is needed when animals are breeding or moulting. 4) Do not damage plants, for example by walking, driving, or landing on extensive moss beds or lichen-covered scree slopes. 5) Do not use guns or explosives. Keep noise to the minimum to avoid frightening wildlife. 6) Do not bring non-native plants or animals into the Antarctic (e.g. live poultry, pet dogs and cats, house plants)." Page 308.

"Antarctica is the largest wilderness area on earth, unaffected by large scale human activities. Accordingly, this unique and pristine environment has been afforded special protection ... The Environmental Protocol designates Antarctica as a natural reserve devoted to peace and science, and applies to both governmental and non-governmental activities in the Antarctic Treaty Area. The Protocol seeks to ensure that human activities, including tourism, do not have adverse impacts on the Antarctic environment, nor on its scientific and aesthetic values. The Protocol states, as a matter of principle, that all activities are to be planned and conducted on the basis of information sufficient to evaluate their possible impact on the Antarctic environment and its associated ecosystems, and on the value of Antarctica for the conduct of scientific research. Organisers should be aware that the Environmental Protocol requires that 'activities shall be modified, suspended or cancelled if they result in or threaten to result in impacts upon the Antarctic environment or dependent or associated ecosystems.'" Page 310.

"KEY OBLIGATIONS ON ORGANISERS AND OPERATORS 1) Provide prior notification of, and reports on, their activities to the competent authorities of the appropriate Party or Parties. 2) Conduct an assessment of the potential environmental impacts of their planned activities. 3) Provide for effective response to environmental emergencies, especially with regard to marine pollution. 4) Ensure self-sufficiency and safe operations. 5) Respect scientific research and the Antarctic environment, including restrictions regarding protected areas, and the protection

[Environmental impact statements? Have you ever tried to prepare one? Very complex area of law.]

“ATTACHMENT A INFORMATION TO BE PROVIDED IN ADVANCE NOTICE

Organisers should provide the following information to the appropriate national authorities in the format requested. 1) name, nationality, and contact details of the organiser; 2) where relevant, registered name and national registration and type of any vessel or aircraft to be used (including name of the captain or commander, call-sign, radio frequency, INMARSAT number); 3) intended itinerary including the date of departure and places to be visited in the Antarctic Treaty Area; 4) activities to be undertaken and purpose; 5) number and qualifications of crew and accompanying guides and expedition staff; 6) estimated number of visitors to be carried; 7) carrying capacity of vessel; 8) intended use of vessel; 9) intended use and type of aircraft; 10) number and type of other vessels, including small boats, to be used in the Antarctic Treaty Area; 11) information about insurance coverage; 12) details of equipment to be used, including for safety purposes, and arrangements for self-sufficiency; 13) and other matters required by national laws.” Page 313.

“The ecosystem of the Antarctic Treaty Area is particularly vulnerable to human interference and the Antarctic derives much of its importance from its uncontaminated and undisturbed condition and the effects it has on adjacent areas and the global environment. For these reasons the Consultative Parties recognise their special responsibility for the protection of the environment and the wise use of the Treaty Area.” Page 319.

Here’s a list of non-governmental companies which have received a permit to enter Antarctica:

<http://eies.ats.aq/Ats.ie/Reports/rptShipBasedByParty.aspx?yearF=2015&yearT=2015&period=1&GridWithFilters=1&reportTitle=Non-Governmental%20Expeditions:%20Vessel-Based%20Operations>

See also: http://www.ats.aq/index_e.htm

In short, Antarctica is essentially a closed continent to both exploration and tourism.

For research purposes, here’s a link to an enforcement publication produced by the National Geospatial-Intelligence Agency regarding Antarctica:

http://msi.nga.mil/MSISiteContent/StaticFiles/NAV_PUBS/SD/Pub200/Pub200bk.pdf

Interestingly, in the publication on pp. 54-55, the government admits that one can see the Antarctic mountains 300 miles away:

“There is almost no dust or solid particles in the Antarctic air and the prevailing winds blowing off the continent have small moisture content. Consequently, the visibility is usually very good and often exceptional, a fact which, if not appreciated, may lead the observer into serious error when judging distances. An object which may be thought to be but 5 miles distant could well be 30 miles away, and mountains have been sighted at 300 miles.”

In this video, Rob Skiba further discusses Antarctica and the Antarctica Treaty system.

Artillerymen, Naval Gunners, Air Traffic Controllers, Railroad and Industrial Engineers, Surveyors, et al, Do Not Account for Curvature

Exhibit 5 – Artillerymen, Naval Gunners, Air Traffic Controllers, Railroad and Industrial Engineers, Surveyors, et al. Do Not Account for Curvature

But it doesn't end with airplane pilots and submarine captains. Naval gunners, snipers, and artillerymen do not account for curvature. Missiles make no adjustment for curvature. Targeting lasers "light up" targets that should be thousands of feet below the curvature as calculated under the spherical model. What about surveyors, railroad, and other industrial engineers? Again, no curvature is ever taken into consideration (except in textbooks) as actual plans do not account for curvature over even hundreds of miles. For example, in order for the Australian train racks to span across the entire continent, the curvature between the two edges would be approximately 750 miles high – and yet the railroad engineers don't account for a curvature of 750 miles. Also, large canals like the Suez and Panama Canals were constructed with no adjustments for curvature. These facts are simply impossible on a spherical Earth.

What about geodetic surveyors?

Some have claimed that surveyors account for curvature – well, they don't.

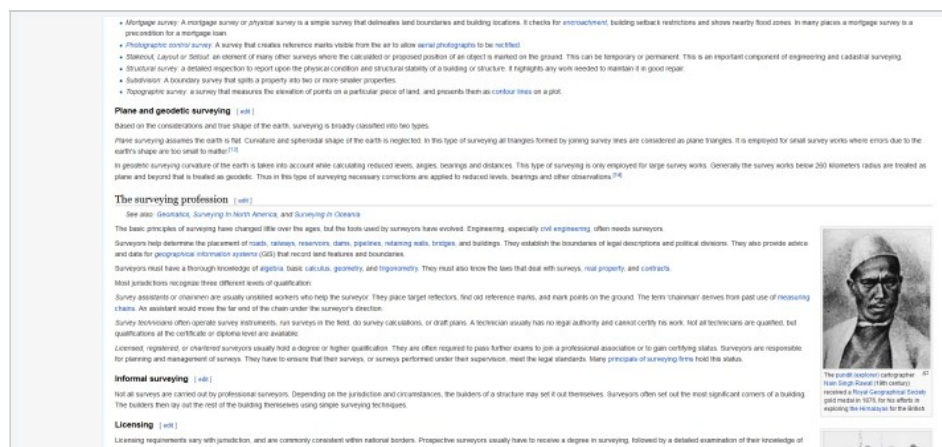

This is an excerpt from Wikipedia regarding plane vs. geodetic surveying (article titled "Surveying"):

"Plane and geodetic surveying

Based on the considerations and true shape of the earth, surveying is broadly classified into two types.

Plane surveying assumes the earth is flat. Curvature and spheroidal shape of the earth is neglected. In this type of surveying all triangles formed by joining survey lines are considered as plane triangles. It is employed for small survey works where errors due to the earth's shape are too small to matter.

In geodetic surveying curvature of the earth is taken into account while calculating reduced levels, angles, bearings and distances. This type of surveying is only employed for large survey works. Generally the survey works below 260 kilometers radius are treated as plane and beyond that is treated as geodetic. Thus in this type of surveying necessary corrections are applied to reduced levels, bearings and other observations."

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Surveying> (emphasis added).

260 kilometers = 161.56 miles

Curvature drop for 161.56 miles = 17,399 feet (<https://dizzib.github.io/earth/curve-calc/?d0=30&h0=10&unit=imperial>)

THERE'S NO WAY A SURVEYOR WOULD NOT MAKE A 17,399 FEET CURVATURE CORRECTION

Furthermore, the article says 260 kilometers "radius." Does that mean that we should double the amount? 520 kilometers = 69,458 feet drop in curvature. Either way, it is clear that surveyors (including geodetic surveyors) do NOT account for curvature and any reasonable person must conclude that such calculations would be necessary in practice.

In further support, curvature or geodetic surveying is not used for cities. According to Wikipedia: "A survey of a city would likely be computed as though the Earth were a plane surface the size of the city. For such small areas, exact positions can be determined relative to each other without considering the size and shape of the entire Earth.”

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Figure_of_the_Earth. If an entire city is surveyed as though “the Earth were a plane surface,” then geodetic curvature surveying is not used in actual construction projects and is therefore meaningless except in manuals. An examination of the National Geodetic Survey (NGS) governmental organization’s website similarly shows that curvature is not realistically considered. <http://www.ngs.noaa.gov/INFO/WhatWeDo.shtml>

Because Sound is Independent of the Earth's Alleged Spin, the Doppler Effect Proves a Flat Earth

Exhibit 48 – Because Sound is Independent of the Earth's Alleged Spin, the Doppler Effect Proves a Flat Earth

Because our Earth is supposedly spinning at 1,000 mph (depending on your location), you could not hear thunder (moving at 768 mph) if you were standing on the side facing the rotation of the Earth. Sound moves independently of the atmosphere. According to MrThriveAndSurvive: "Sound is ENERGY and NOT the atmosphere nor does it ever become a PART of the atmosphere. Otherwise lightening would be 1000 MPH FASTER than the CONSTANT going with the earth spin and 1000 MPH slower going the other way with no effect due north and south. The EARTH does not move and getting this concept down is imperative."

Captain Cook and The Old Explorers of Antarctica

Exhibit 44 – Captain Cook and The Old Explorers of Antarctica

In 1773, Captain Cook became the first modern explorer known to have breached the Antarctic Circle and reached the ice barrier. During three voyages, lasting three years and eight days, Captain Cook and crew sailed a total of 60,000 miles along the Antarctic coastline never once finding an inlet or path through or beyond the massive ice wall. Captain Cook wrote: "The ice extended east and west far beyond the reach of our sight, while the southern half of the horizon was illuminated by rays of light which were reflected from the ice to a considerable height. It was indeed my opinion that this ice extends quite to the pole, or perhaps joins some land to which it has been fixed since creation."

"'Yes, but we can circumnavigate the South easily enough,' is often said by those who don't know, The British Ship Challenger recently completed the circuit of the Southern region – indirectly, to be sure – but she was three years about it, and traversed nearly 69,000 miles – a stretch long enough to have taken her six times round on the globular hypothesis." – William Carpenter, "100 Proofs the Earth is Not a Globe."

"During Captain James Clark Ross's voyages around the Antarctic circumference, he often wrote in his journal perplexed at how they routinely found themselves out of accordance with their charts, stating that they found themselves an average of 12-16 miles outside their reckoning every day, later on further south as much as 29 miles." Captain Ross also wrote of the Antarctic ice wall as, "extending from its eastern extreme point as far as the eye could discern to the eastward. It presented an extraordinary appearance, gradually increasing in height, as we got nearer to it, and proving at length to be a perpendicular cliff of ice, between one hundred and fifty feet and two hundred feet about the level of the sea, perfectly flat and level at the top, and without any fissures or promontories on its even seaward face. We might with equal chance of success try to sail through the cliffs of Dover, as to penetrate such a mass."

Discrepancies between the Northern and Southern “Hemispheres”; the Equator Problems

Exhibit 26 – Discrepancies between the Northern and Southern “Hemispheres”; the Equator Problems

In addition to those fakery issues surrounding the alleged 24-hour daylight days in Antarctica discussed herein, there are other problems between the northern and southern “hemispheres.” First, the climate of the Arctic and the Antarctic are very different. Antarctica is nearly devoid of life in contrast to the Arctic regions. This makes no sense under the globe model. According to Eric Dubay’s “200 Proofs Earth is Not a Spinning Ball”:

“Antarctica is by far the coldest place on Earth with an average annual temperature of approximately -57 degrees Fahrenheit, and a record low of -135.8! The average annual temperature at the North Pole, however, is a comparatively warm 4 degrees. Throughout the year, temperatures in the Antarctic vary less than half the amount at comparable Arctic latitudes. The Northern Arctic region enjoys moderately warm summers and manageable winters, whereas the Southern Antarctic region never even warms enough to melt the perpetual snow and ice. On a tilting, wobbling, ball-Earth spinning uniformly around the Sun, Arctic and Antarctic temperatures and seasons should not vary so greatly.

The following video from Eric Dubay describes this problem with the globe model:

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ckxLruRc0xA>

Iceland at 65 degrees North latitude is home to 870 species of native plants and abundant various animal life. Compare this with the Isle of Georgia at just 54 degrees South latitude where there are only 18 species of native plants and animal life is almost non-existent. The same latitude as Canada or England in the North where dense forests of various tall trees abound, the infamous Captain Cook wrote of Georgia that he was unable to find a single shrub large enough to make a toothpick! Cook wrote, “Not a tree was to be seen. The lands which lie to the south are doomed by nature to perpetual frigidness – never to feel the warmth of the sun’s rays; whose horrible and savage aspect I have not words to describe. Even marine life is sparse in certain tracts of vast extent, and the sea-bird is seldom observed flying over such lonely wastes. The contrasts between the limits of organic life in Arctic and Antarctic zones is very remarkable and significant.”

- <http://www.atlanteanconspiracy.com/2015/08/200-proofs-earth-is-not-spinning-ball.html>

Second, white nights are experienced throughout the northern “hemisphere” and are well-celebrated; such white nights do not seem to occur at the same southern parallels as no hotels celebrate the event in southern Chile. Search on the internet for “white night parties Russia” vs. “white night parties Chile” and see the huge difference for yourself.

Third, in addition to temperatures and life, there are issues with the stars as well. The North Star is visible far below the equator and has been seen as far south as South Africa as some have claimed. In contrast, the Southern Cross is not visible above the equator – although disputed on the internet, several explorers (including Alexander von Humboldt) even said that the Southern Cross was not visible above the 16th south parallel.

According to Samuel Rowbotham: “[C]onstellations Ursa Major, Ursa Minor, and many others, can be seen from every meridian simultaneously; whereas in the south, from the equator, neither the so-called south pole star, nor the remarkable constellation of the Southern Cross, can be seen simultaneously from every meridian, showing that all the constellations of the south – pole star included – sweep over a great southern arc and across the meridian, from their rise in the evening to their setting in the morning.” Zetetic Astronomy, page 219; <http://www.sacred-texts.com/earth/za/za48.htm>.

Finally, the equator itself poses a problem for the globalists as the Earth is supposedly tilted 23.4 (it is noteworthy, that by adding 66.6 – an occult number – to the Earth’s alleged tilt, you get 90 degrees). Therefore, the Equator is above or below the direction of the Earth’s orbit. This raises serious problems as to the globalists’ explanation of how the waters around the Equator are much hotter and how the supposed Coriolis Effect works when the Earth is tilted always at 23.4 degrees.

For more information regarding the issues surrounding the temperatures at the Equator, watch the following videos from BS Detector.

- https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=VVXsDSmLT_M

Touring the depths of Antarctica is generally prohibited by treaty (why no commercial ventures where there are vast mineral deposits). No commercial flights are ever taken across Antarctica. Non-stop flights over long distances below the equator are almost non-existent. Independent explorers who have attempted to explore Antarctica have been arrested.

Eclipses Prove that Mainstream Science is Wrong

Exhibit 35 – Eclipses Prove that Mainstream Science is Wrong

The Moon is approximately 1/4 the size of the Earth (diameter of the Moon = 2,159 miles; diameter of the Earth = 7,926 miles). Accordingly, the shadow of the Moon cast on the Earth during a solar eclipse should be approximately 1/4 the size of the Earth. Instead, the eclipse only produces a small shadow (top right in the picture below).

Shadow experiments are consistently showing that this small shadow is impossible.

Watch these videos from Flat Earth Consequences.

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=EYWW8LTdNso>

In the videos below, MrThriveAndSurvive demonstrates many problems associated with the “official” model of the lunar eclipse. For example, there is simply no way that the sunsets on Earth cause the Moon to take on a reddish color during a lunar eclipse.

Fluid Dynamics vs. the Atmosphere Wheel

Exhibit 8 – Fluid Dynamics vs. the Atmosphere Wheel

According to the spherical model, the entire atmosphere moves synchronously, like a solid wheel, with the ground that is spinning at approximately 1,000 mph. This is pure nonsense! First, imagine a model of the globe Earth being placed in a swimming pool and begins spinning at speeds over 1,000 mph. Empirical experience tells you that the water would quickly begin spinning around the sphere as well. However, the speed of the water would NEVER be synchronous (like a wheel) with the spin of the ball. Now imagine that you're looking down at the spinning ball in the swimming pool. The water closer to the ball would move much faster than the water further away and the water would form a spiral like a whirlpool around the ball as the ball spins in the pool; you would NEVER see the water spin like a wheel connected to the ball like spokes connected to an axle of a bicycle. This whirlpool motion is fluid dynamics and if the spinning sphere model was correct, our atmosphere would most certainly behave like a whirlpool but doesn't. In fact, we see ZERO evidence of the fluid whirlpool dynamics of a spinning atmosphere.

Second, because the mass of the atmosphere (already very low) substantially decreases as you get higher in elevation, the increasingly lower mass atmosphere (the higher you go up) would necessarily be impacted less by the claimed gravitational pull of the Earth and so the atmosphere could not move synchronously with the ground. Among other problems, this raises the skydiver problem. High-altitude skydivers should end up hundreds of miles away from their targets but always fall where they started (excluding weather patterns). Weather balloons can stay high up in the atmosphere for hours (up to 130,000 feet) and still manage to fall nearly where they were launched. How is this possible under the globe model? Watch the following video from My Perspective: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=kUNqH0smC8>. Similarly, excluding wind and other weather, volcanic eruptions always shoot straight up into the air; however, logic says that if the Earth was spinning, the top of the plume should be well pointed away from the rotation of the Earth if the Earth was indeed spinning at 1,000 mph.

Third, if the ground was spinning at 1,000 mph, the top of the atmosphere would have to be moving at a ridiculous speed of roughly 10,000 mph (the ISS supposedly travels at 17,000 mph) to keep up with the Earth far below – it would be very difficult to re-enter Earth's atmosphere from space. In short, the wheel-like or synchronous theory of the atmosphere makes no sense and violates the testable and empirical principles of fluid dynamics.

Here's a video from BS Detector that raises some of the issues presented here.

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=T-yXbiRRfQA>

Watch the plumes of these volcanic eruptions and try to explain to yourself how these plumes rise straight up into the air over the ground that is supposedly spinning at 1,000 mph.

Gyroscopes and Gyro Navigation would Not Work on a Spherical Earth

Exhibit 39 – Gyroscopes and Gyro Navigation would Not Work on a Spherical Earth

This argument may seem a bit technical but it's fairly simple to understand once you spend a few minutes on it. Essentially, gyroscopes and gyro navigation (as they are used) are impossible on a sphere. In short, once gyroscopes start spinning, they do not change their plane of spin ("rigidity in space") regardless of the Earth's curvature. According to Wikipedia: "When rotating, the orientation of this axis is unaffected by tilting or rotation of the mounting, according to the conservation of angular momentum." <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Gyroscope>

Because of "rigidity in space," the gyroscope "is unaffected by tilting or rotation of the mounting" in an airplane (constituting the artificial horizon) and cannot work on a globe as the artificial horizon would never automatically adjust for the curvature and within a short amount of time the indicator would be incorrect as the actual horizon would be at an entirely different vertical angle. Similarly, over the course of a length of time (e.g., 6 hours), a gyroscope even at home sitting still on a table (but spinning for the entire time by a motor) would show the change in curvature due to the Earth's alleged spin if the Earth was indeed spinning. Instead, gyroscopes continually show there's no curvature or spin whatsoever..

Imagine you're a jet pilot. Once you start your engine, the gyroscope also starts to spin. The horizontal angle of the angle is now fixed and will not change so long as the gyroscope keeps spinning. This is very useful as you can barrel roll and do loops in your jet without even looking at the actual horizon (e.g., it's dark or cloudy), you'll know right where the horizon is by looking at your horizontal indicator. What's the problem? If the jet is automatically adjusting for the curvature of the earth via gravity (which is preposterous by itself), the gyroscope could not similarly adjust as the horizontal plane of the gyroscope is "rigid in space." If the jet angles downward with the curvature, the gyroscope will still be angled exactly as it were at the beginning. This change of angle would be dangerous to pilots and be evident within a short amount of time on a jet.

This is not disputable as Léon Foucault supposedly used a gyroscope in an experiment in 1852 involving the rotation of the Earth. According to Wikipedia, it was "Foucault who gave the device its modern name, in an experiment to see the Earth's rotation which was visible in the 8 to 10 minutes before friction slowed the spinning rotor." Id. However, high precision gyroscopes (as shown below) have proven Foucault's experiment false.

In the next video, Rob Durham, using a high-class gyroscope to prove that gyroscopes do not measure curvature and the ability of Foucault's Pendulum to measure the spin of the Earth is fake.

International Space Station (ISS) Fakery

Exhibit 12 – International Space Station (ISS) Fakery

Multi-layered CGI is making NASA fakery much better but big mistakes are still being made with the footage on the ISS. Permed hair that does not flow like it should in zero gravity, bubbles on space walks, lighting mistakes, obvious use of harnesses, impossible rotations of cameras, astronauts almost drowning in space, failure to rotate the Earths, etc. These BIG mistakes point to the obvious – if NASA, et al. are faking any of it – then they are probably faking all of it despite the theatrical effects.

One big issue that proves to me the ISS is fake is the fact that no photographs/video exist showing the ISS fully pre-assembled before being broken into parts for launch into space. Also, how did the first parts stay in orbit? Did the astronauts just know where they left the pieces without orbit controls? Furthermore, there is very little footage of the assembly of the ISS. That would not have happened if the ISS was real as the entire assembly would have been filmed – every bolt would have been of interest to the scientific community and engineering firms everywhere. In truth, the ISS would have taken a full construction crew many months to assemble – this task would have been IMPOSSIBLE for astronauts in space suits.

There does seem to be a strange light in the sky that people are taking pictures of referred to as the ISS. What is it? Very often the “ISS” light is photographed at night, which is impossible since the ISS should be eclipsed and have no external light source – that’s a problem. Personally, I think it’s one NASA’s U-2 Spy Planes (picture at left). Others think it’s a hologram or some or other type of solar powered aircraft (picture at right). Whatever it is – it isn’t an advanced space station in a controlled fall.

100% proof of ISS fakery offered by DITRH.

he_International_Space_Station (this is the LIVE tracker of the ISS directly from the European Space Agency), or <http://www.ustream.tv/channel/iss-hdev-payload> (linked directly from NASA'S website).

- Step 2: Change your computer's time at the bottom right of your computer.
- Step 3: Watch as the ISS not only magically changes its location over thousands of miles but also its trajectory. Congratulations! You're now in control of the LIVE location and trajectory of the ISS.

According to the heading of the next video: "The International Space Station, just like everything else brought to us by NASA, is a Freemasonic hoax, a complete fabrication done with special effects, models, pools, zero G planes, and various camera tricks. The following video exposes key points of evidence for the hoax and breaks down exactly how the illusion is created and maintained." The harness at 1:50 is classic!

- https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=5e-RnKAN9qY&feature=player_embedded (Eric Dubay)

With clips from the movie Gravity, you can see that multi-layered CGI can make anything look real and allows for minutes of prolonged fakery on the ISS, which is becoming more common. Watch at the beginning and at 4:43 for how Sandra Bullock appears to be floating through the ISS. Our space agencies may have other CGI methods as well to create prolonged "weightless" movement on the ISS.

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=bdxglyEPCxk>

Brian Mullin (the engineer) describes how the ISS and satellites are impossible.

- https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=yBB2QWno_Uw

Here's an article describing the incident where the astronaut almost drowned while on a alleged space walk at the ISS. Common sense says that the astronaut almost drowned in NASA's admitted giant spacewalk testing swimming pool.

- <http://abcnews.go.com/Technology/astronaut-drowns-spacewalk/story?id=19678504>

Repeated videos from the ISS show the clouds and other features on the globe moving at a constant speed – this is 100% impossible. Begin watching at 15:28 from Dave Murphy:

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=cMJpjwix5I>

No reasonable person should believe NASA and in the ISS after watching this HUGE mistake of the wandering and wobbling moon which was supposedly filmed on the ISS. Again, if they obviously faked this footage, why should we believe any of it? Why would any footage be fake if the ISS was real?

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=JEV3jqj1TVY>

Jeranism points out some obvious lighting and directional mistakes of the ISS (to skip the introduction, start at 1:50).

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=9nIRMTMMf84>

Another video from Jeranism. Begin at 18:57. In addition to lighting mistakes, the movement of the camera with the background is simply impossible at 19:35.

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=XcERUNRxu4Q>

Watch at 4:18 and see one of the many examples of clear CGI errors on the ISS.

- https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=2-nQUUVm_l8&feature=youtu.be

How are ISS "astronauts" creating prolonged video footage of weightlessness on a fake ISS? They use multiple hidden edits involving multiple takes, CGI morphing, zero gravity flights, wires, hanging upside down, etc. Here, Errow777 shows how they deceptively fake a video clip with multiple hidden edits:

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=X2Dk4dYEhYM>

CGI morphing is used to mask multiple takes – here's a video showing how it was used during a music video that was filmed on a zero gravity plane:

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=LWVGJA9i18Co>

So what are people seeing when they look at the ISS through a telescope? Yoda speculates that it's a hologram (start at 5:37). Others argue that it's a balloon in the upper circular jet stream or a U-2 spy plane (NASA has one – <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=4fqrGzML1BA>, <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=aLsHVKgndrA>) with extra attachments or projection technology. Maybe it's a combination of methods?

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=e5-k9TYsGgo>

Flat Earth Consequences argues that the ISS would be so small at 250 miles away that it would be impossible to see with the naked eye and binoculars.

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=JB9fyEfeWF4>

Look at this impossible photograph from the ISS. The whole diameter of the Earth is framed in the photograph. The ISS is only 220 miles above the surface – the photograph is 100% fake.

Moonlight is Cold and Uniform

Exhibit 16 – Moonlight is Cold and Uniform

The fact that moonlight is cold does not necessarily prove that the world is flat but it does evince that we aren't being the told about the truth of our reality and a cold moonlight certainly does not meet the "reflecting sunlight" claim of mainstream science. The experiments have been repeated across our flat Earth (there are a dozen videos) and it's becoming a near 100% proven fact that moonlight is a strange cold light even taking into consideration the possibility that heat can be trapped in shadowed areas. Also, there is no hot spot on the moon. Take a globe and shine a light on it and the side closest to the light will be brighter than the other parts of the globe. However, the moon's light, where it is lit, is uniform.

TABOO CONSPIRACY

Where other conspiracy sites fear to go

Home About Us Contact

NASA et al. Faked the Moon Landings; Why Not the Shape of the Earth?

Exhibit 42 – NASA et al. Faked the Moon Landings; Why Not the Shape of the Earth?

For many, the fake moon landings constitute one of the hardest facts to accept. If you believe NASA landed on the moon, it's time for you to question your indoctrination – the American moon landings were 100% FAKE – the government (and every other government), along with its media and academia sold you a BIG f lie and you believed it.

I'm truly sorry if it injures your cherished beliefs but don't fret too much as we all believed it at one time. It's normal to assume that your government loves you and is the repository of truth. It's normal to assume that astronomers, engineers, and physics majors at universities, etc. would have had enough independently-minded brains to come out and uncover the fraud. It's normal to assume that CNN and the media would have had a big breaking stories about the fake moon landings. Unfortunately, your assumptions were entirely wrong.

Normally, I leave open the possibility of human error and avoid absolute certainties but with respect to the moon landings, we are 100% positive that the moon landings were all fake and it's time the rest of the world knew. It's not difficult to prove the fakery as you only need a critical mind and common sense.

Yes, we have all heard the “debunking” claims that the conspiracy would have had to have been too big to conceal it, that the moon landings were monitored by Ham radio operators, we can bounce lasers off of the moon, or we have pictures of the landing sites. I'm here to tell you that these so-called proofs are utter nonsense.

Human beings must become more than mere parrots of official stories. You owe it to yourself to read through these proofs and to do your own research. Even the media is starting to recognize that the moon landings were faked. However, once you come to the realization that the moon landings were faked, there are a few inescapable conclusions you must reach:

- NASA has perpetrated a tremendous fraud on the world and cannot be trusted; all NASA missions should be presumed fraudulent unless proven otherwise with overwhelming evidence
- There will not be a Mars landing anytime soon and it's right to assume that there's no rover on Mars at this time
- All first and second world countries failed to reveal the big lie and are controlled in some manner; all other lunar landings by China, Japan, Russia, etc. are also likely fraudulent
- There was no big space race between the Americans and the Russians – it was fake
- The media cannot be trusted as they only repeat the patent lies of NASA
- Big universities, professors, astrophysicists, engineers, etc. all failed to uncover the OBVIOUSLY faked moon landings; they're either controlled directly or indirectly through conformity
- Space X has failed to reveal the fake moon landings and speaks of a Mars mission; Space X is also likely fraudulent

If you have questions or points you would like to add, please post them in the thread.

(1) a ridiculous papier-mâché Lunar Lander complete with black paper, tape, gold aluminum foil, and curtain rods, that (i) achieved speeds up to 4,000 mph on descent and ascent; (ii) was NEVER tested or flown on earth; (iii) had an inexplicable ability to maintain life support (with ample room) for several days (the Apollo 17 astronauts were supposedly on the moon for 3 days, 2 hours, 59 minutes and 40 seconds); (iv) could absorb substantial amounts of dust inside the pressurized cabin without a problem (the two Apollo 17 astronauts re-entered the Lunar Lander on three occasions after even driving a dune buggy around the surface); (v) remarkably lacked all traces of dust on the landing pads; (vi) had enough room to hitch on a fold-up dune buggy on later flights along with extra 1960's batteries and tires; (vii) the ascent engine had NEVER been tested – not even turned on to see if it works; (viii) included one miraculous air conditioning system in the harshest environment imaginable [the temperature on the moon varies from -387 Fahrenheit (-233 Celsius), at night, to 253 Fahrenheit (123 Celsius) during the day]; (ix) the astronauts were able to land this contraption without widows; and (x) NASA risked the huge possibility that the astronauts would accidentally land on a big rock (look how far off the ground the rocket nozzle is) or crater and cause the Lunar Lander to crumble on impact.

BIASED PROPAGANDA

(2) no blast crater or scorching caused from the Lunar Lander's 10,000 lb. thruster;

(3) the craft, the Apollo suits, and cameras had no protection from radiation, micrometeorites, and the other elements on the moon and in space including immediate temperature fluctuations of 540 degrees Fahrenheit while in and out of the shade;

(4) a VERY long series of photo fakery and patent proofs of photo editing, e.g., the Michael Collins faked spacewalk photo (for starters, review the photo analyses of Jack White – http://www.aulis.com/jackstudies_index1.html;

(5) many examples of astronauts suspended by wires;

An error occurred.

Try watching this video on www.youtube.com, or enable JavaScript if it is disabled in your browser.

(6) everything was in slow motion, yet everything should have moved quicker;

(7) use of 1960s movie technology, i.e., artificial backdrops (visible scotchlite glass screen) with visible lines;

An error occurred.

Try watching this video on www.youtube.com, or enable JavaScript if it is disabled in your browser.

(8) thousands of beautiful studio quality photos without the ability to manually adjust aperture, use the viewfinder, etc. and without secondary light sources;

(9) no picture of the stars – ever, even when the astronauts were supposedly orbiting on the dark side of the moon and using long exposure times;

(10) proof of secondary light sources and major shadow discrepancies, including a 130 degrees shadow direction shift over a small area that is clearly not perspective;

(11) the ridiculous Lunar Rover – do you really believe NASA would have risked attaching a dune buggy on the Lunar Lander or the possibility that it would break down far away from the Lander or cause a part to shake loose on one of the astronaut's suit due to the rover hitting a large bump or crashing (think about this one);

(12) using circular windows to fake an unremarkable image of the earth, with a cloud that spans the entire diameter of the earth;

An error occurred.

Try watching this video on www.youtube.com, or enable JavaScript if it is disabled in your browser.

(13) no one has allegedly been beyond 400 miles above the earth for nearly 42 years (last time on the moon was December 14, 1972) and yet were able to do it easily in 1969 and travel a minimum of 234,000 miles to the moon;

(14) the astronauts sat on top of a 10,000 lb. thruster but noise was not an issue in the recordings;

(15) a disappearing Lunar Lander on the moon in the photos and repeated use of similar mountain backdrops in what should have been different areas;

(16) strange and nonexistent tracks of the Lunar Rover; also, Lunar Rover tracks appear before the Lunar Rover was even unpackaged;

(17) the sun appears to be a giant light bulb;

(18) American patriotic symbols – always perfect in the photographs;

(19) remarkable boot prints with no moisture;

(20) the film of the ascension stage of the Lunar Lander – laughable footage filmed by the astronaut who stayed behind to watch and who idiotically panned out and up (of course NASA claims it did it by remote 234,000 miles away) and then beamed the footage back to earth – and we didn't even have decent television remotes at that time;

(21) the Command Module orbits a fake moon;

(22) the billowing American flag – oops;

(23) the 200 yard touchdown pass – wait how come we didn't see that or other great feats?;

(24) the Van Allen Radiation Belts and other alleged severe cosmic radiation;

(25) the first moonwalkers' press conference – the unwilling liars' affair;

(26) the video footage of the docking Lunar Lander appears eerily similar and fake as Kubrick's "2001: A Space Odyssey";

An error occurred.

Try watching this video on www.youtube.com, or enable JavaScript if it is disabled in your browser.

(27) the discrepancies of the moonwalkers, did they see stars or not?;

(28) an ISS astronaut said that NASA cannot go beyond Earth's orbit;

An error occurred.

Try watching this video on www.youtube.com, or enable JavaScript if it is disabled in your browser.

(29) perfect performing 1960s technology that cannot be matched today;

(30) the "spectacular" photos of the landing sites on the moon ... wait a second they are awful and show nothing;

(31) NASA lost much of the footage, diagrams, etc.;

(32) the Lunar Rover was nothing more than a radio controlled dune buggy;

An error occurred.

Try watching this video on www.youtube.com, or enable JavaScript if it is disabled in your browser.

(33) the moon rock that became petrified wood and the fact that von Braun just happened to take a trip to Antarctica with NASA's management shortly before the Apollo moon landing missions, which is the same very place where moon rocks can be found on earth;

(34) third party stage hands appearing on video when there should only be two astronauts;

An error occurred.

Try watching this video on www.youtube.com, or enable JavaScript if it is disabled in your browser.

- (35) the inadequate space and impossibility for three astronauts to live for approximately 12 days in space in a tiny craft while stuck only in a sitting position;
- (36) the gray color of the soil on the moon is the wrong color;
- (37) impossibly quick answers between those supposedly on the moon and NASA (timing delay off);
- (38) the earth is pictured too small from the moon (the earth would be 4x the diameter of the moon);
- (39) the unreasonable jump to landing on the moon and alleged jumps in technology in a span of only 11 years;
- (40) the Command Module did not have enough fuel to make it to the moon and back since the gravitational pull of the earth allegedly extends all the way to the moon;
- (41) the Apollo astronauts' suits were clearly not pressurized – they should have looked like the Michelin Man; also, one of the astronauts appears to even have a bare hand during one video segment;
- (42) the minerals kicked up by the European Space Agency's SMART-1 probe were mistakenly different than the Apollo rocks;
- (43) 60% of the much simpler Lunar Lander testing vehicles crashed (supposedly used by the astronauts to prepare for actually landing the real Lunar Lander) – do you think Armstrong would have been ready to fly an untested and never flown Lunar Lander on the moon after this?;

An error occurred.

Try watching this video on www.youtube.com, or enable JavaScript if it is disabled in your browser.

- (44) Von Braun said in his book "Conquest To The Moon" (published in 1953) that it would be impossible to send anyone to the moon because of the sheer size of craft needed to do the trip; taking Von Braun's calculations into consideration, a spaceship that needed to travel that distance would have had to be 266 times bigger than the Saturn 5;
- (45) the broken strut on the Lunar Lander;
- (46) the lunar soil in the Apollo pictures is nothing more than Portland cement;
- (47) leaked video of the Apollo astronauts on a studio set that looks exactly like the moon (<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=iNxxzEizDVU>) and a leaked photo of Wernher von Braun Strolling on the set of the moon (https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=P_kVI4BIFYU);
- (48) you cannot hear sound in a vacuum and yet sounds were clearly recorded on video while the astronauts were allegedly working on the moon;

An error occurred.

Try watching this video on www.youtube.com, or enable JavaScript if it is disabled in your browser.

(49) a third person is seen outside the command module which is supposed to be in space (<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=inq72hrDac0>);

An error occurred.

Try watching this video on www.youtube.com, or enable JavaScript if it is disabled in your browser.

(50) NASA has now admitted that the Van Allen Radiation Belts (“an area of dangerous radiation”), prevent human travel: “Radiation like this can harm the guidance systems, onboard computers, or other electronics on Orion . . . Naturally, we have to pass through this dangerous zone [Van Allen Radiation Belts] twice – once up and once back . . . Sensors aboard will record radiation levels for scientists to study. We must solve these challenges before we put people through this region of space”; and,

(51) The best alleged “proofs” that NASA made it to the moon – the moon reflectors (proof of nothing, which would be covered in dust by now anyway), the landing site photos, (a laughable and PhotoShop joke), the testimonies (varying and peculiar), moon rocks (which are unaccounted for and can be found on earth and sometimes turn into petrified wood), the moon/hammer experiment (possibly faked with wires and impossible with the pressurized suit to hold the feather with finger tips), and the ham radio operators (how did they know the transmission came from the surface of the moon and not just a supposed satellite, assuming they weren’t paid shills) – is this really the best NASA could think of to prove such a historic event?

No Bulging of Oceans at the Equator

Exhibit 27 – No Bulging of Oceans at the Equator

According to the official story, the Earth is spinning near 1,000 mph at the equator and slows down to less than 100 mph at the poles. Gravity supposedly holds all of the water on the Earth which also magically offsets the stronger centripetal force of the Earth's spin. But even with the gravity excuse, why haven't the oceans noticeably flowed towards the equator where the spin of the Earth is the fastest, creating a giant bulge of ocean water? Gravity would seemingly have to include the magical abilities of keeping the oceans spherical even where the centripetal force increases ten fold from the poles to the equator. It's just common sense, water could not be spherically uniform on the Earth because the spin at the equator must be much faster and so water would have to flow towards the equator and away from the poles. This does not happen. Also, shouldn't lava under the surface do the same and bulge at the equator over the alleged hundreds of millions of years of creation? Official "science" now seems to argue that Earth is "pear-shaped" or an "oblate spheroid" but that also seems contradictory when you look at the fake photographs of the Earth from space that always show a perfect sphere.

No Change of Weight From the Equator to the North Pole; Destructive Speeds of the Spinning Ball

Exhibit 10 – No Change of Weight From the Equator to the North Pole; Destructive Speeds of the Spinning Ball

We are told that gravity keeps us from being flung from the Earth as it rotates at nearly 1,000 mph. However, the speed of the Earth's rotation is admittedly much less at the poles than at the equator. There's no question here – the speed of rotation must be less at the poles since the ground at the poles does not traverse as much distance than the ground at the equator every day. Because you're moving much faster at the equator, you arguably need more gravity to keep you from being flung from the Earth to offset the centrifugal force. Because you're moving much slower at the poles, you should need less gravity to keep you from being flung from the Earth. Accordingly, it seems that gravity would have to be stronger at the equator (to keep you from flying into space) and a weight should weigh more at the North Pole (where no centrifugal force is causing you to be flung from the Earth but only the force pulling you towards the ground remains) than it would at the equator; or, someone who was at the north pole would be able to jump higher should he travel to the equator. But there here is no change in weight.

A few naysayers have argued that the weight change is very small and should be only approximately 0.3%, due to the smaller radii at the poles which reduces the impact of the slower spin, which makes reasonable sense, but a 0.3% change is still measurable and no evidence of weight change has ever been witnessed. Further, precision manufacturers in Alaska, Finland, Sweden, Norway, and Northern Russia do not make adjustments to their equipment to account for differences in weight. This issue must also be considered along with the claims that the alleged globe orbits at 66,600 mph, which would only increase/decrease the momentum of the spin as the spin moves with and then against the orbit.

More importantly, the distance of the radii is irrelevant to the fact that the outer layer of the Earth could not withstand a speed of approximately 1,000 mph. Outer edge velocity is all that are considered in determining whether a sphere can withstand falling apart. As to the Earth, its extraordinary speeds would cause the rim of the Earth to disintegrate.

No Complete Shift Between Night and Day When the Earth is on Opposite Sides of the Sun

Exhibit 14 – No Complete Shift Between Night and Day When the Earth is on Opposite Sides of the Sun

A mean solar day (the time required for a single rotation of the Earth on its axis with respect to the Sun) is 24 hours. How many degrees does the Earth rotate in one solar day? Common sense says that the Earth should rotate 360 degrees. However, if the Earth rotated 360 degrees per day, every 6 months, night and day would be opposite. Again, think of the Earth on the left side of the Sun. Daylight on the Earth would be on the right side, i.e., pointed towards the Sun on the right. Pick up the Earth in that same position and place it on the right side of the Sun (like the Earth just traveled across the solar system after 6 months). The daylight side, which was on the right side of the Earth 6 months earlier, would now be pointed away from the Sun and be night, i.e., day and night would have shifted entirely.

Of course, mainstream science recognized this obvious problem and came up with an answer and a new word for it. According to the official model, the synodic day is the period during which Earth rotates one time relative to the Sun. This rotation is supposedly slightly more than 360 degrees, because the Earth has to rotate a little extra (beyond a full 360 degrees) in order to reach the starting point relative to the Sun. This is the day we allegedly experience. Under this model, if the Earth rotates 361 degrees per day, day and night would not switch every 6 months. In other words, official "science" recognized the above problem and revised the model to make it fit but "science" did not answer why the Earth would maintain a perfect day/night balance and spin 361 degrees per day other than that is what the Earth has to do in order to fit the presumed "official" model.

Can this one degree be measured in any manner except through circular reasoning to support the official model? Show me the proof. Is this how science has worked over the last 500 years, the model becomes unworkable and so "science" contrives facts to fit the presumed model? In other words, the presumed but false model controls the facts and not the other way around and so we get "facts" that were only created to maintain a mistaken model. Official "science" has become nothing more than circular reasoning. As Joseph Jastrow said, "Create a belief in the theory and the facts will create themselves."

Here are two videos from MrThriveAndSurvive discussing the issue:

No Eclipses of Objects Other than the Moon

Exhibit 38 – No Eclipses of Objects Other than the Moon

Lunar eclipses constitute one of the few strong arguments in support of a spherical Earth. A spherical type shadow during a lunar eclipse on the Moon seems to indicate that the Earth is a sphere and casting a shadow from the Sun onto the Moon. Of course, this does not explain selenelions (horizontal eclipses), why lunar eclipses can occur from the varying and unpredictable directions (<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=QUKjb4bbjpc>), or why the shadow of the Earth has a reddish hue on the Moon. The “official” explanations are far from compelling. Even more interesting, the shadow of the Earth does not seem to interact with anything besides the Moon. Why doesn't anything else get eclipsed by the Earth's huge shadow? Have you ever seen a supposed satellite (they're not self-illuminating) all of sudden disappear behind or reappear from the shadow of the Earth or do they always traverse the entire sky? Does the ISS seem to disappear (like a light being switched off) behind the 8,000 mile diameter shadow of the Earth or all-of-sudden reappear from the Earth's shadow at sunrise? For further investigation, see <http://spotthestation.nasa.gov/sightings/>. Has Mars or Jupiter ever been eclipsed by the Earth's shadow, which would be even much bigger by the time the Earth's shadow reach them? Do close comets ever disappear behind the Earth's shadow? It seems that for most of the night no alleged satellite or other close object in space should be visible but that does not happen.

No G's for Our Astronauts; Impossible Video Stabilizers on Space Rockets

Exhibit 45 – No G's for Our Astronauts; Impossible Video Stabilizers on Space Rockets

Compare the G's incurred by a very experienced Blues Angel pilot vs. astronauts. Are astronauts really experiencing less G's than the Blue Angels pilot when they have to get up to 17,500 mph? Even at 3 G's, the astronauts would certainly show it in their faces and yet the ride seems rather pleasant to them. Also, what kind of stabilizer does NASA and these other space agencies use to totally eliminate the powerful vibration of the rockets? It's more likely that it is only CGI.

Awesome video of the talented Blue Angels. Pay attention to the pilot's face as he experiences high G's.

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=u4D0yx4DvBk>

Skip to 4:27 and watch the Russian astronauts on a very pleasant liftoff into space.

- https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=uYhH5cCu_7I

You cannot see their faces well but fast forward to 5:13 and see these astronauts moving at 5,000 mph with no effort whatsoever.

- https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=BRMO88Xv_7A

Watch this video from WaykiWayki, which shows the astronaut even writing during the launch.

- https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=_IRApwcdpWM

How did they make such an amazing stabilizer for a camera sitting on the outside of a rocket? I also have to ask why the rocket isn't spinning like every other rocket (that's not from an official space agency).

No Movement of the North Star; The “Official” Vortexing-Zooming-Spinning Earth Model is Asinine

Exhibit 37 – No Movement of the North Star; The “Official” Vortexing-Zooming-Spinning Earth Model is Asinine

According to the official model, the Earth is currently spinning (on its axis which is tilted at 23.4 degrees) at 1,042 mph (at the Equator), wobbles, and even bounces daily (from the gravitational pull of the Moon that allegedly causes tides on opposite sides of the Earth). The Earth is also revolving around the Sun at approximately 66,600 mph. Simultaneously, the Sun is zooming at 447,000 mph (taking the Earth and the solar system with it).

Please ponder this point – the Sun is supposedly dragging, via gravity, all of the planets (from Mercury at 29 million miles to Pluto at 2.8 billion miles from the Sun), moons, comets (even those outside the solar system), meteorite clusters, artificial satellites, asteroid belts, etc. and still all of the orbital patterns maintain tabular and repeated performances.

The whole galaxy moves at 373 miles/second while the entire universe continues to expand at some other obscene number resulting from the outward thrust of the Big Bang. Meaning that the Earth is moving at more than 1,860,000 mph. This poses a big problem. The North Star has NEVER changed its position in known history. In other words, since just last week, the Earth has moved 312,480,000 miles and the North Star (and the positioning of all other constellations) did not move or change angle. Over the last year, the Earth has moved 16 billion miles (only 1 year) and such movement has never been measured with respect to changing positions of the stars. Cement a narrow tube in your yard pointed at the North Star and the North Star will be in the same spot year after year. That's impossible!

Of course, science says that the North Star (and the other stars) is so far away that you wouldn't see any movement but I say hogwash; there is no way that the North Star could remain constant, century after century, as the Earth moves at those speeds while spiraling, wobbling, spinning on an axis at 23.4 degrees, daily bouncing, and other varying positions.

One issue that struck me about the “official” model, once I allowed myself to look at it with a critical mind, is how RIDICULOUS the “official” model of the solar system, etc. is. Here's a demonstration of the “official” spiraling solar system model:

What makes this officially accepted theory even more ABSURD, is the fact that the above video is not even close to scale. The “official” model only seems plausible when considered as though all of the objects are close together like they are in the above video; instead, the objects would be microscopic in scale. Watch the video below. Imagine the above zooming-vortex claim if it were made to scale (see video below). Supposedly, gravity is holding this all together, as the entire system, including comets outside the solar system, spiral through space at obscene speeds but always maintaining year-after-year (over hundreds of years) repeated performance. It’s just stupid!

The Sun would be dragging all of these objects (microscopic at scale) along, all at many different sizes and distances, all with varying gravitational attractions, with none of the objects being left behind or even slowly moving away from the zooming-vortexing system. How can the Sun pull Mercury and maintain the same distance year-after-year as it similarly maintains the same distance with Pluto that is being pulled but with exponentially less gravitational attraction? How can meteor showers repeat again and again when they should all be either swallowed by the Sun or left behind the zooming vortex? How does the entire solar system maintain a horizontal elliptical plane while chasing a Sun in the middle moving at 2 million mph? Gravity would have no reason to maintain a horizontal elliptical plane and could not do so. Doesn’t common sense dictate that all objects (esp. the outer planets like Pluto and comets outside the solar system) would quickly be lost behind the zooming vortex instead of always keeping up with the Sun and maintaining repeated angular performances?

The Emperor has no clothes! The “official” model is unequivocal horse s and it’s time for every reasonable person to stand up and say so!

Note that in the following video that the creators did not even touch the orbit of Pluto (I guess some don’t call it a planet anymore). If the model Sun was 1 yard in diameter, Pluto, a grain of sand, (diameter of 1/608 of the Sun) would be nearly 2 miles away. Launch that solid beach ball at 2 million mph and do you really believe that grain of sand 2 miles away would not only keep up but also maintain a vortex pattern with the Sun for hundreds of years?

An error occurred.

Try watching this video on www.youtube.com, or enable JavaScript if it is disabled in your browser.

In the following video, TheMorgile correctly points out that repeating orbital comets would be 100% impossible on a spiraling solar system hurtling through space at over 1,000,000 mph.

No Photos of Earth from Space

Exhibit 2 – No Photographs of Earth from Space

One of the primary but programmed rebuttals to the flat Earth is the claim that there are hundreds of photographs of Earth from space. However, the allegation is provably wrong – there are no legitimate photographs of the Earth from space. This was very surprising to me, and I scoffed initially, but the evidence is clear.

Did you know that NASA admits that all of the photographs from 1972 to 2012 were faked to meet “people’s expectations”?

All of us have seen dozens of photographs of the Earth from space, right? Unfortunately, each of those “official” photographs is provably false. Look at the two photographs of the Earth above and look at the size of North America. The so-called photographs are mutually exclusive as they cannot both be real; however, NASA claims that they are both genuine. Even if the photographs were taken at different heights and we’re looking at an optical effect, the proportions simply do not hold up and are different.

Do a quick Google search for “photographs of the Earth from space” with a critical eye and see the deception for yourself. All of the alleged photographs of the Earth were made by CGI, paintings, and composite aircraft photographs – nothing more. In other words, you were deliberately deceived. Why the deception? NASA has even admitted that nearly all of its photographs of the Earth were fake and based on “people’s expectations.” Again, this was shocking to me – I thought there were hundreds of legitimate photographs of the Earth, but there aren’t and the ones that are “official” have unmistakable errors (e.g., repeating cloud patterns, changing land mass sizes, clouds that span the entire diameter of the Earth, the word “SEX” spelled out by the clouds, etc.).

The most famous photograph of the Earth (“The Blue Marble”) was allegedly taken in 1972 by Apollo 17 during the obviously faked moon landings and so that photograph must also be fake. All of the remaining pictures are admitted paintings and artist CGI renditions. In addition, many alleged time-lapse videos of the Earth’s rotation have failed to show morphing clouds as the Earth rotated, an unequivocal impossibility. However, CGI is getting better and morphing clouds have been recently included by an alleged Japanese satellite but the video still seems to have distinct errors and may be nothing more than weather radar superimposed on a spherical picture of the Earth. Also, if NASA and other space agencies lied continually for the past 50 years, why should we now believe them?

In the following video and article, NASA's Robert Simmon (aka Mr. Blue Marble) admitted in 2012 that NASA's photographs of the whole Earth from space (from 1972 to 2012) were fake and based on "people's expectations":

"The last time anyone took a photograph from above low Earth orbit that showed an entire hemisphere (one side of a globe) was in 1972 during Apollo 17 Then we wrapped the flat map around a ball. My part was integrating the surface, clouds, and oceans to match people's expectations of how Earth looks from space. That ball became the famous Blue Marble."

– NASA's Robert Simmon,

<http://www.nasa.gov/centers/goddard/about/people/RSimmon.html>

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=SA89iDq7PzE&feature=youtu.be>
- https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=4p_0bnICtDc

This isn't a conspiracy theory – NASA admitted on its own website that it FAKED its photographs of the Earth to match your mistaken beliefs. That is how propaganda works, NOT science. A reasonable person should ask, "Why does NASA and other "official" space agencies have to fake anything when there are supposedly thousands of satellites in space that are far enough away to take a picture of the entire Earth?"

If you really want to know what utter nonsense NASA tries to pass as real footage, watch the recent alleged video of the moon crossing the Earth. According to NASA: "This animation features actual satellite images of the far side of the moon, illuminated by the sun, as it crosses between the DSCOVR spacecraft's Earth Polychromatic Imaging Camera (EPIC) and telescope, and the Earth – one million miles away." Try not to laugh because this "real" satellite footage is painfully fake as the CGI Moon fails to rotate, cast a shadow, is the wrong brightness allegedly being directly in the sunlight, etc.

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=PTvGZc38tdw>

On Apollo 11, the crew, which was supposed to be approaching the Moon, plainly attempted to fake a picture of the Earth (with a cloud that spans the entire diameter of the Earth) by using the circular window of their high-flying craft just above the Earth to frame a circular Earth. If Apollo 11 faked this and man did not go to the Moon (as proven by many points of evidence- <http://tabooconspiracy.com/blog/moon-landing-hoax/>), why would you believe the Apollo 17 "The Blue Marble" photograph is real?

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=G5N2eLICRdk>

One hyper-realist artist, Mathew Boylan (aka Math Powerland), has come forward and fairly convincingly said that he was a freelance hyper-realist artist for NASA and painted "photos" of distant planets, etc. that were used by NASA as "real" photographs and that the cartoon blue of the oceans of the Earth is an impossibility. His sole testimony would not be of substantial value except for the fact that Boylan's claim only confirms NASA's admission above that the photographs were faked. In addition, Boylan claimed that upper-level NASA employees told him at a party that the Earth was flat. Here's Mathew Boylan's interview as an alleged NASA insider followed by a subsequent comedy routine.

No Sound or Feelings Associated with the Spin of the Earth

Exhibit 50 – No Sound or Feelings Associated with the Spin of the Earth

According to the official story, the Earth is spinning nearly 1,000 mph at the equator and slows down to less than 100 mph at the poles. Gravity supposedly holds everyone on the Earth which also magically offsets the centripetal forces of the Earth's spin and its orbit at 66,600 mph (moving towards your feet at 66,600 mph and then moving away from your feet at 66,600 mph). Somehow, you cannot feel these offsetting and drastically changing forces in any manner. Add on the moon's alleged gravitational pull of the tides (and the Earth's daily bounce) and you have a whole lot of movement, spinning, and pulling.

Notwithstanding, have you ever heard the spin of the Earth or felt it in any manner? Wouldn't there be some sound produced with all of this spinning and pulling? Logically, there should be some major sounds of a spinning Earth at 1,000 mph and the Earth's orbit at 66,600 mph, and a normal person should at least feel or detect the competing and directional changing motions by either traveling across the globe (where rotations speeds would vary) or in some other manner. Our senses say that the Earth is not moving in any manner.

No Star Parallax

Exhibit 22 – No Star Parallax

The Moon and the stars supposedly vary in distance over hundreds of thousands of light years away. However, the Moon and the stars all seem to move at the same uniform speed during the nighttime sky. In short, parallax says that closer objects should move quicker across the sky than objects much further away. For example, as you have driven you may have noticed that trees a few hundred yards move across your field of vision much quicker than the distant mountains in the background – that's parallax. Despite the extreme differences in distances, there is very little parallax with the stars and the Moon, not visible to the naked eye, and the parallax supposedly measured by "scientists" moves impossibly in opposite directions (positive and negative). In the following video, Jeranism covers the lack of star parallax and the work of Tycho Brahe.

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=HdUyWmxCBY0>

Ashlee Webster shows how the stars and the Moon travel at about the same speed across the sky even though they have different distances of up to hundreds of thousands of light years.

No Visible Curvature

Exhibit 1 – No Visible Curvature

The fact that the curvature has not been witnessed by anyone but NASA and other space agencies is one of the strongest pieces of evidence in support of the flat Earth and it has not been debunked by anyone. As I have done, you can test this evidence yourself with an ultra-zoom digital camera which makes this evidence very dangerous to the official story.

An error occurred.

Try watching this video on www.youtube.com, or enable JavaScript if it is disabled in your browser.

What astounds nearly everyone is how much drop in curvature there is based on the “official” dimensions of the alleged globe Earth and how this curvature should be EASILY detectable not only by instruments but also by just everyday life. Based on the “official” dimension of the globe, at just 10 miles of distance, you should have a 66-foot drop in curvature, i.e., 66 feet should be hidden from view (taking into consideration the average eye height of a male at 5 feet 7 inches the observable drop from eye height is 33 feet). At 100 miles away, there should be an amazing 6,666-foot drop in curvature, i.e., 1.26 miles should be hidden from view. These calculations are 100% correct and have been affirmed through computer drafting software.

Did you witness a hump of earth 755 miles tall (or 3,985,350 feet) when you took that flight or drove from Los Angeles to New York (distance of 2,445 miles)? Did you witness a sloping tall mountain of 6,666 feet when you recently drove just 100 miles or did the world seem flat to you (excluding mountains, hills, valleys, etc.)?

Telescopic and laser measurements reach the same conclusion – there’s absolutely no detectable spherical Earth curvature. Furthermore, no one ever taught you the Earth’s curvature math at school or college, why? Every engineer, surveyor, mathematician, artillerymen, and astronomer should have a thorough understanding of the curvature and cite exactly how much curvature there is per mile and be able to demonstrate it through simple experimentation and measurement, but no one does, why?

BIASED PROPAGANDA

If you're new to the flat Earth and are still skeptical (and you should be), you may argue that you have seen boats disappear over the curvature or that you saw the curvature from an airplane. However, these common knee-jerk responses you heard in school are provably wrong. First, you can bring the boats, hull and all, back into view with a powerful telescope. The boats are usually disappearing behind the atmosphere (sometimes waves), not a curvature, and the video proof is compelling.

For example, here's a cargo ship, only visible by a telescope, that should have disappeared behind the curvature long ago but instead became obscured behind the atmosphere: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=awCx5ob04ZY>. Here's a video from wide awake that again shows a boat disappear behind the atmosphere – not a curvature: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=NbAGhXyf_a0. Perspective also plays a vital role in understanding how ships disappear at a distance: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Pjm_oeN5j1g. The fact that boats disappear behind the atmosphere (not the curvature) also explains why objects cannot be viewed across extreme distances on a flat Earth with a powerful telescope (<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=63bK7AnWNWw>). In short, MANY objects that should be hidden sometimes behind thousands of feet of curvature are clearly visible with an ultra-zoom camera and the official excuses of refraction and looming are insufficient explanations. Here's a great compilation by Cof072 of many boats that should be below the curvature but aren't: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=qOb5V-ha8bc>

Second, in addition to there being no measurable curvature at the ground, there is no curvature at an altitude of at least 121,000 feet as proven via video of weather balloons and others. For example, see <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=WQITXbcz2hg> (121,000 feet), <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ja94eRVLWEM&feature=youtu.be>, or even 470,000 feet (<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=AqzQMr1ijYE>). Thus, you did not see a curvature in an airplane at 30,000 feet and very likely witnessed an optical illusion caused by a curved window. Besides NASA and other space agencies, what about all of those photos and videos showing a curvature of the Earth from parachutists, airplanes, weather balloons, etc.? All of those photos and videos of the supposed Earth's curvature were filmed with fish-eye or wide-angle lenses, like the GoPro, which created a false curvature effect. This isn't a theory because you can easily witness the distortion as the alleged curvature alters between convex and concave during the Felix Baumgartner jump or any other GoPro footage.

How do you calculate the curvature of the Earth? The distance below the curvature (how much of the object should be hidden behind the Earth) is calculated by squaring the distance to the object in miles and multiplying the answer by 8 inches: "To find the curvature in any number of miles not given in the table, simply square the number, multiply that by 8, and divide by 12." Remember, this is trigonometric math based on the "official" globe model dimensions. This is easy math that every child should know. We all learned that $E=mc^2$ (which is never used) but we never learned how quickly objects dip below the curvature – simple math that can be demonstrated and proven across schools everywhere.

As shown below, after the first few miles, the curvature becomes so great that there should be no difficulty in detecting it. This can be tested on land as well as you can see mountains in the far distance that should be substantially below the curvature but never are (as seen in this video <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=gPgYTP7tf74>). This curvature chart is proven accurate but it is IGNORED by everyone. At just 10 miles away, easily visible with binoculars, you should see a visible 66-foot drop in the horizon, but you don't see it.

Curvature Table

MILES AWAY	MATH	DROP
1	1 x 1 x 8	8 Inches
2	2 x 2 x 8	32 Inches
3	3 x 3 x 8 / 12	6 Feet
4	4 x 4 x 8 / 12	10 Feet
5	5 x 5 x 8 / 12	16 Feet
6	6 x 6 x 8 / 12	24 Feet
7	7 x 7 x 8 / 12	32 Feet
8	8 x 8 x 8 / 12	42 Feet
9	9 x 9 x 8 / 12	54 Feet
10	10 x 10 x 8 / 12	66 Feet
20	20 x 20 x 8 / 12	266 Feet
40	40 x 40 x 8 / 12	1,066 Feet
60	60 x 60 x 8 / 12	2,400 Feet
80	80 x 80 x 8 / 12	4,266 Feet
100	100 x 100 x 8 / 12	6,666 Feet
120	120 x 120 x 8 / 12	9,600 Feet

In the following video, Oahu is visible from Kauai – approximately 100 miles away. Based on the spherical model, 4,559 feet of Oahu should be hidden below the curvature. The highest point on Oahu is 4,003 feet but the whole island is clearly visible in the photograph.

Here's another video I shot that proves that there's no curvature at a distance of 6.23 miles over a bay in Utah.

An error occurred.

Try watching this video on www.youtube.com, or enable JavaScript if it is disabled in your browser.

Please watch the following video from Jon McIntyre who describes how mountain peaks can be used to prove there's no curvature.

- <https://youtu.be/DPDtMQqlprk>
- <https://youtu.be/0WHSbQeY3ls> (this is my video using mountain peaks to show that there's no curvature – mountain peaks 100 miles away would have a dip of curvature in the amount of 6,667 feet and wouldn't be visible behind the closer but smaller mountains)

Very often globe theorists counter the curvature argument with videos and photographs showing the bottoms of buildings and ships disappear behind an alleged curvature. These theorists ignore the fact that angular resolution causes the zoomed-in waves at the convergence point to often obscure the bottoms of boats and buildings. To prove this angular resolution effect, this gentleman showed the effect on distances where there should be little curvature.

Another video from Jeranism showing video evidence of Toronto without a curvature (begin at 37:40):

- https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=_G7H6jAEdKE

Rob Skiba shows that there is no curvature at even 130,000 feet.

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=KnHTV4L0mA8>

Many examples of objects that are visible but should be far below the purported curvature.

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=FWLOT3Tqi-Q>

Start at 8:36 to see other examples of objects that should be below the curvature.

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=sfMZ9sDXAp0>

The following video was created to DEBUNK the flat Earth; instead, Red's Rhetoric again proved that ships disappear behind the atmosphere, not a curvature (watch at 2:40 to see the sail disappearing behind the atmosphere). Waves and swells can make hulls disappear on boats as closer waves that are zoomed-in can obscure the now tiny boat further away. Globalists use this to their advantage in various videos but you must move beyond the globalist videos and watch all of the videos here to make your own determination.

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=7nUFLUahSI>

At 12 miles out, the ship in the next video should have disappeared behind the horizon but it is still visible. Waves do begin obscuring the bottom portion of the boat as it gets further away (the waves closer to the photographer become bigger in relation to the size of the boat) but the entire boat should have disappeared.

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=EkuzlaLyTXM>

Here's a video from the Air Force that shows a flat horizon at supposedly 317,000 feet. I don't believe it went that high but the claim and the footage is extraordinary.

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=l7BhucfC-5Y>

Here's a video of a letter written from a truck driver that describes his experience and belief that he has never seen a curvature of 750+ miles between Los Angeles and New York.

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=qtDmivPPLQY>

This is a major proof by an air traffic controller. Air traffic controllers can monitor airplanes from the one airport's radar as far away as 350 miles away until the planes have even landed.

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=-jML1pH0CX0>

Perspective plays an interesting role in the investigation of the alleged flat Earth. Watch these videos (most importantly watch the very short 3rd video down from Cofo72 "FLAT EARTH PIECES – 16 SECONDS" – you can see for yourself that the horizon line comes closer as the camera zooms outward, i.e., the horizon line depends on magnification of the zoom):

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=FQ4A32Apgjc>
- https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Pjm_oeN5j1g
- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=t-Jl69ZlozE> (FLAT EARTH PIECES – 16 SECONDS)

Very often, ball believers say that geodetic surveying proves the Earth is spherical – well, they're not telling you the truth as even geodetic surveyors treat the world as a plane (plane surveying) and don't account for curvature until after 60,000 feet which is not believable. Here's my video on the topic:

Under the globe model, radio towers, which operate under direct lines of sight, would have to impossibly transmit through hundreds of feet of Earth (watch at 9:56).

No Worldwide Change of Stars When the Earth is at Opposite Sides of the Sun

Exhibit 9 – No Worldwide Change of Stars When the Earth is at Opposite Sides of the Sun

Under the sanctioned model, the Earth revolves around the Sun and is at opposite sides of the Sun every 6 months. Now, imagine or sketch a picture of the Earth on the left side of the Sun and a second Earth (6 months later) on the right side of the Sun. For both Earths, the daylight of the Earth will always be pointed towards the Sun in the center. Here's a video I made:

An error occurred.

Try watching this video on www.youtube.com, or enable JavaScript if it is disabled in your browser.

For the Earth on the left side of the Sun, daylight will always be on the right side. For the Earth on the right side of the Sun, daylight will be on the left side. Therefore, nighttime on the Earth will point in OPPOSITE directions away from the Sun every 6 months. Accordingly, the Earth should have a substantial new set of stars every 6 months (estimated to be 40% of the nighttime sky).

To be clear, although the stars do shift between the northern and southern hemispheres, the stars roughly remain constant for the entire Earth excluding a small concentration of stars (e.g., the zodiac as it crosses the ecliptic) which are eclipsed behind the Sun. Meaning, on any given night, you could traverse the Earth from the northern to the southern hemisphere and you would pretty much see every star and constellation out there (excluding the zodiac for the month).

This should be impossible under the heliocentric model as approximately 40% of the nighttime sky should be obscured by the Sun until the Earth reaches the other side of the Sun, not just 1% for a few weeks. Because the Earth is necessarily facing a substantially different nighttime sky every 6 months under the globe model, the stars should be approximately 40% different – they're not. This proves that the Earth does not move and so the entire heliocentric model of the solar system is wrong.

A video from Jeranism describing this issue in part (start at 31:39):

Plane Flights Over the Southern Hemisphere

Exhibit 20 – Plane Flights Over the Southern Hemisphere

Flight patterns between cities on different continents over the southern hemisphere are VERY strange on a globe model but make perfect sense on a flat Earth. Non-stop flights between major cities in the southern hemisphere appear to be relatively rare and somewhat difficult to book. Instead, the vast majority of the flights in the southern hemisphere take inexplicable and very long v-shaped detours to the northern hemisphere. Also, no GPS tracking is available for these southern hemisphere flights. Are the very few bookable non-stop flights between southern hemisphere cities even real or do they just end up with a “detour” after the flight is booked? Max Igan allegedly recently went on one of the Qantas flights and his compass and other readings were very peculiar – speed, direction, etc. all seemed to be off track. It’s difficult to find out for certain since the GPS is also turned off for these flights. However, it should be noted that there is no agreed model of the flat Earth and so making conclusive determinations from this Exhibit are still problematic.

Satellites are Fake; the Thermosphere is Too Hot to Support Satellites, ISS, and Hubble

Exhibit 28 – Satellites are Fake; the Thermosphere is Too Hot to Support Satellites, ISS, and Hubble

With all of those videos of the Earth from the ISS, have you ever seen the thousands of claimed satellites flying by? I have never seen one. The thermosphere reaches temperatures supposedly up to 2,000 degrees Celsius, how is it possible that satellites even exist? I know, NASA says the satellites are covered in a gold aluminum foil and so they're perfectly fine. However, until one of those guys at NASA sits inside NASA's large vacuum chamber directly under a blast furnace with only a gold-colored tinfoil blanket as protection to prove that heat of the blast furnace won't transfer to the person, I won't believe it.

This video was linked to earlier under the ISS exhibit but is relevant to the discussion of satellites. According to Brian Mullin, an engineer, satellites are not possible in the thermosphere.

GeoShifter points out many problems associated with the official story of satellites, including the fact that thousands of satellites are high enough to take pictures of the entire Earth and yet none of them do (skip ahead to 1:50), but GeoShifter adds that some satellites could be real over the flat Earth taking advantage of high jet streams.

Stars that are Light Years Away Should Not Be Visible by the Naked Eye

Exhibit 25 – Stars that are Light Years Away Should Not Be Visible by the Naked Eye

The Sun is allegedly 93 million miles away. Tau Ceti is a “sun” 12 light-years away (70.56 trillion miles away from our solar system) and is slightly smaller than our Sun. Based on the decreasing magnitude of brightness, Tau Ceti should not be visible. In fact, it doesn’t seem like any object light years away should be visible to the naked eye.

The Compass Problem

Exhibit 43 – The Compass Problem

How a compass works on a sphere is problematic. For example, someone using a compass in South America should have a difficult time finding north. Why? Because the magnetic north pole would nearly be straight under foot, i.e., directly towards the ground. A compass needle aligns itself and points toward the top of Earth's magnetic field, which is now supposedly over far northern Russia. However, there is no indication that compasses have any more difficulty finding north in Southern Chile, South Africa, or Australia, or ever align themselves towards the center of the Earth.

The Concentration of Sunlight

Exhibit 34 – The Concentration of Sunlight

Building on an earlier exhibit, as shown in time-lapse videos, the sun gradually decreases in size and intensity as it moves further away which would be impossible to notice if the sun was 93 million miles away.

When the Sun sets the sun light does not end on a wide uniform plane; instead the light gradually follows and comes toward and localizes at the setting Sun. This should be impossible if the Sun is 93 million miles away. P-Brane's work on this subject is highly commendable.

The Coriolis Effect Proves the Flat Earth

Exhibit 40 – The Coriolis Effect Proves the Flat Earth

Often cited by globe theorists as one of the best pieces of evidence in support of a globe Earth, the Coriolis Effect actually seems to add much more support to the flat Earth and makes absolutely no sense on a globe. Further, if the Earth's atmosphere rotates synchronously and attached by gravity to the ground as claimed by official "science," then the Coriolis Effect should not even exist – it clearly contradicts the globe model. How can the Coriolis Effect allegedly impact bullets and cause storms to swirl clockwise or counterclockwise but fail to have any effect on an airplane traveling east to west or vice versa, have an effect on a parachutist or weather balloons falling from high altitudes, or even have an impact on a volcanic eruption that shoots straight up into the air? Why is the Coriolis Effect so selective?

Here's a semi-official video describing how the Coriolis Effect allegedly works on the globe model and supposedly has an impact on storms and paper airplanes.

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=i2mec3vgeal>

The videos below show how the Coriolis Effect fails on the globe model.

TABOO CONSPIRACY

Where other conspiracy sites fear to go

The Cover-Up

Exhibit 6 – The Cover-Up

From fake photographs of Earth and space, to CGI 24-hours of daylight videos in Antarctica, to FAKING the curvature even when there clearly isn't one, NASA and other official groups are deliberately DECEIVING the people about the globe model. For example, the first video below shows that this deception is intentional as they took video from a weather balloon showing a flat horizon and artificially (with software) bent the photographs to make the Earth appear spherical.

The Felix Baumgartner jump is another example (videos earlier in Exhibit #1). The one picture of Felix taken from inside the capsule as the door is opened shows a flat horizon but the actual jump photos and video were made with wide-angle lenses which are evident from the distortion of the curvature as the horizon line alternates between concave and convex. Further in the videos below, you will see unmistakable and intentional DECEPTION associated with the 24-hours of daylight in Antarctica – if there was no 24-hours of daylight in Antarctica, then the globe would have to be false.

In the next video, the editors purposely changed a flat horizon into a curved horizon to fit the spherical model.

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=EhUWqIIX2Ac>

If there were no 24-hours of daylight days in Antarctica like in the Arctic, then without question the globe model would be false. However, the repeated fakery is evident and constitutes a damning proof that the globe model is a lie. Why else would they fake these 24-hours of daylight other than to hide the truth about the “official” model?

In the next video from DITRH, he shows how they deliberately FAKED a major video of the alleged 24-hours of daylight in Antarctica. This is 100% proof of fraud – why would that be necessary if the model was true?

- <https://youtu.be/Hw8qeF5NeLc>

Here's a YouTuber's attempt to use the above video as “proof” against the flat Earth theory.

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Zc-WITaG7WY>

Another video proving fakery associated with the purported 24-hour days in Antarctica (for the first video, begin watching at 1:48).

- https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Eem_Yv9a0I8

Here's another example of using a fish-eye GoPro camera to produce a deceptive spherical Earth. The distortions are clear but the curved picture of the Earth was still advertised on mainstream websites everywhere.

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=jPT0u6kfAxc>
- http://www.nytimes.com/2015/09/16/science/gopro-balloon-footage-of-earth.html?WT.mc_id=2015-KWP-AUD_DEV&WT.mc_ev=click&ad-keywords=AUDDEVREMARK&kwp_0=45522&r=1

Rob Skiba again shows that there is no curvature at even 130,000 feet but also points out how often fish-eye lenses are used to fake the curvature.

The Diverted Flat Earth Baby Flight and International Shipping

Exhibit 32 – The Diverted Flat Earth Baby Flight and International Shipping Routes

Although this Exhibit builds on the other exhibit discussing southern hemisphere flight patterns, this story most certainly fits the flat Earth model as it pertains to both hemispheres. In October 2015, a China Airlines flight from Bali to Los Angeles was diverted because a woman prematurely had her baby on the flight. A fun story but it also proves the flat Earth because the flight was strangely diverted to and made an emergency landing in Anchorage, Alaska. Get out your globe and you will see that there is no way that Anchorage, Alaska was anywhere near the route of the flight which could have just easily continued its path straight to Los Angeles or landed in Honolulu. However, on the flat Earth Azimuthal Equidistant Map (the same one that matches the UN flag), Anchorage, Alaska is very near the route.

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=MySetcgzdCI>
- http://www.dailymail.co.uk/travel/travel_news/article-3270382/Caught-camera-amazing-moment-woman-gives-birth-premature-baby-girl-30-000ft-Taiwan-Los-Angeles-flight-crew-passengers-helping-out.html

Although this needs more research, there are some clear indications that international shipping routes match the flat Earth Azimuthal Equidistant map and make no sense on a globe. This also matches the diverted baby from Los Angeles to Anchorage described above.

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dpY0nscsHzY>

More proof of flights that make no sense on a globe: <http://www.dailymail.co.uk/news/article-2078301/Mind-sleigh-Airlines-given-permission-fly-North-Pole-time-slashing-hours-exotic-destinations.html> ("Many long-haul flight times will be dramatically reduced as planes are allowed to take a short cut over the North Pole."). London to Fiji. Old time: Fiji (10,000 miles) – current time via Los Angeles or Seoul: 24 hours. New time: 18 hours non-stop using 'polar express' short cut. Analysis: No substantive difference in distance by going over the North Pole on the globe. Huge distance savings on the Gleason's map. London to Tahiti. Old time: Tahiti (9,600 miles) via Los Angeles: 23 hours. New time: 17 hours. Analysis: Absolutely no reason to cross over the North Pole on the globe, which would only increase the distance. London to Honolulu. Honolulu (7,300 miles) via Los Angeles: 18 hours. New time: 13 hours. Analysis: Absolutely no reason to cross over the North Pole on the globe, which would only increase the distance. London to Anchorage. Anchorage (4,500 miles) via Seattle: 16 hours. New time: 8 hours short cut – over the North Pole to destinations such as Hawaii, Alaska or French Polynesia. Analysis: This new route over the Arctic makes much more sense on both the globe and Gleason's. What I don't understand is why this isn't already happening as it seems the straightest line under either model is currently permissible under aviation routes. The straightest line does not go over the North Pole.

The Earth Does Not Spin; the Round-trip Airplane Model Would Produce Unequal Times on a Sphere Spinning 1,000 mph; Planes Could Not Land on a Spinning Ball at 1,000 mph; the Cannonball Test

Exhibit 29 – The Earth Does Not Spin; the Round-trip Airplane Model Would Produce Unequal Times on a Sphere Spinning 1,000 mph; Planes Could Not Land on a Spinning Ball at 1,000 mph; the Cannonball Test

A flight from Las Angeles to New York takes the same amount of time as a flight from New York to Los Angeles. How is this possible on a sphere spinning easterly at 1,000 mph? Spherical theorists argue that its similar to playing ball in a car but ignore the fact that the car is closed – i.e., does the Earth have a dome that seals it? This also is similar to the wind problem, how does wind (and storms) flow the opposite direction of a ball that is pulling an atmosphere with it at 1,000 mph? One of the huge contradictory claims of the spherical theorists is that the Coriolis Effect can affect storms and snipers but has not effect on airplanes.

Many years ago, in order to prove the Earth was flat and stationary, researchers from the International Flat Earth Society launched a series of cannons straight into the air. Amazingly, all of the cannon balls fell down right next to the cannons and some even ended up back into the same cannon barrels – a repeatable experiment. Thus, the flat Earthers researchers concluded that the Earth is not spinning at approximately 1,000 mph as all of the balls should have landed to the west. These cannonballs, being very dense, should have counteracted much of the alleged easterly movement of the atmosphere.

In the next video, TheMorgile discusses the cannonball experiment of the International Flat Earth Society (watch at 15:19).

The Farce of Gravity

Exhibit 41 – The Farce of Gravity

As discussed above, gravity allegedly has the ability to keep us from being flung from a ball spinning at 1,000 mph and gravity can still somehow change its effect on individuals and objects between the poles and the equator where the centripetal forces are different in magnitude. It doesn't end there because the Earth supposedly orbits the Sun at 66,600 mph as the Earth simultaneously spins at 1,000 mph. If you are on the side of the Earth facing the path of the Earth's orbit, the ground below you is moving 66,600 mph towards your feet, like jumping on a VERY fast elevator that is going up. If you are on the opposite side of the Earth facing the backside of the Earth's orbital path, the ground below you is moving away from your feet at 66,600 mph, like jumping on a VERY fast elevator that is going down. You would certainly feel these changes on an airplane or a train, but why not on the Earth that is moving much faster? Gravity cannot explain the drastic change with no physical effect. Furthermore, as the Earth spins, the speed of the Earth will increase as it spins in the direction of the orbital path and will decrease in speed as it spins opposite of the orbital path. Again, this change should happen every day on the "official" model but no one has ever felt or measured it.

Gravity, as commonly understood, simply doesn't exist and you can try an experiment yourself. Stand next to a large mountain or cliff and dangle a rock from a string. Does the rock move horizontally towards the mountain even if you place it millimeters away from the face of the cliff? Nope, the rock only dangles perpendicularly towards the ground and has zero attraction towards that mountain. The Cavendish experiment was another fraud perpetuated by "official" science.

In the following two videos, My Perspective illustrates these and other examples proving the farce of gravity.

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=WorFu8sV9Eo>
- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Re95FRLk7Ew>

In regards to the Cavendish experiment, please watch this video from Globe Skeptic:

TABOO CONSPIRACY

Where other conspiracy sites fear to go

Home About Us Contact

The Horizon Remains at Eye Level No Matter How High You Go Up

Exhibit 15 – The Horizon Remains at Eye Level No Matter How High You Go Up

Some have a difficult time grasping this argument but it essentially means that if we lived on a sphere, as you go higher up (e.g., in an airplane), the horizon should get lower from your view and should not remain at a horizontal eye level; you should have to tilt your vision downwards to see the horizon the higher you get. The horizon should dip away from you. Why? Because the Earth would have to necessarily curve downward on a sphere and the downward angle would increase the higher you go up and it should be noticeable but this doesn't happen. The horizon always remains flat and at eye level no matter how high you travel up. A horizon that remains at eye level and flat should be impossible on a ball.

In his book, Zetetic Astronomy (1881), Rowbotham quoted several balloonists who remarked how the horizon always appeared at eye level no matter how high they were.

"Another curious effect of the aerial ascent was that the earth, when we were at our greatest attitude, positively appeared concave, looking like a huge dark bowl, rather than the convex sphere such as we naturally expect to see it ... The horizon always appears to be on a level with our eye, and seems to rise as we rise, until at length the elevation of the circular boundary line of the sight becomes so marked that the earth assumes the anomalous appearance as we have said of a concave rather than a convex body." Rowbotham quoting Mayhew's Great World of London.

"The chief peculiarity of a view from a balloon at a considerable elevation, was the altitude of the horizon, which remained practically on a level with the eye, at an elevation of two miles, causing the surface of the earth to appear concave instead of convex, and to recede during the rapid ascent, whilst the horizon and the balloon seemed to be stationary." Rowbotham quoting London Journal, July 18th, 1857.

"The horizon always appeared on a level with the car." Rowbotham quoting Mr. Glaisher's Report, October 11, 1862.

Now, you don't have to take the word of the balloonists as you see for yourself that the horizon remains at eye level in an airplane and in footage of weather balloons at 120,000+ feet. The purported sphere or "dip" of the Earth should be easily visible from an airplane at 30,000 feet and it is not; instead, the horizon remains flat and at eye level.

In the following video, Rob Skiba demonstrates via computer animation what the horizon should do on a flat plane vs. a sphere.

Here's a video of a flight at 41,000 feet – the horizon always remains at eye level. This video also shows another hot spot from a Sun that is supposed to be 93 million miles away.

The Lunar Wave

Exhibit 18 – The Lunar Wave

Crrow777 is the discoverer of the Lunar Wave and deserves all of the credit. The Lunar Wave is a phenomenon that has now been filmed on over a dozen occasions and seemingly proves that the Moon is something different than what we're being told. It is not a camera artifact and not explainable by mainstream science. Indeed, the Lunar Wave seems to evince that the Moon may even be hologram or a rear projection but that is only speculation but is supported by the fact that the Moon may be transparent at times. As expected, mainstream science has ignored this fascinating discovery because it does not fit the "official" model.

For the best video example of the Lunar Wave, watch at 8:30.

The Moon is Not 234,000 Miles Away

Exhibit 49 – The Moon is Not 234,000 Miles Away

As witnessed by everyone, when the Moon is behind clouds, the Moon does not light up all of the clouds in the sky; instead, the Moon only lights up those clouds surrounding the Moon.

Empirically, the moonlight seems much more local. Other time lapse measurements prove the same. Because the moonlight is local, the Moon cannot be 234,000 miles away from the Earth.

Watch at 37:58, as dmurphy25 points out this argument.

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=lchtwf5Fvhc>

My Perspective eloquently addresses this and other questions.

- https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=_ayl4hgxo9g

Here's a time lapse video showing how the Moon (like the Sun) shrinks in size as it moves across the sky.

The Phases of the Moon Every 6 Months Do Not Evince Movement of the Earth around the Sun

Exhibit 31 – The Phases of the Moon Every 6 Months Do Not Evince Movement of the Earth around the Sun

The Moon's phases should be reversed at opposite times of the year because the Earth (and the Moon) is at the opposite side of the solar system while the Sun remains roughly in the middle. The phases never reverse and always maintain the same 29.5-days cycle. That's not possible when the Earth supposedly appears on opposite sides of the Sun.

The Rotating Moon and Matching Sun

Exhibit 30 – The Rotating Moon and Matching Sun

The time lapse video contained within the video below proves that the moon's counter-clockwise rotation movement does not match the claims of established science. In fact, at least over the southern hemisphere, the moon rotates approximately 130 degrees over a night. Again, the facts clearly contradict the "official" story.

An error occurred.

Try watching this video on www.youtube.com, or enable JavaScript if it is disabled in your browser.

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=i8R6ivpmf5o>

In addition to the rotating Moon, the Sun also rotates and matches the rotation of the Moon perfectly. This is doesn't seem to be explainable under the globe model.

The Selenelion (Horizontal Eclipse) Problem

Exhibit 23 – The Selenelion (Horizontal Eclipse) Problem

The fact that a horizontal eclipse or selenelion even exists seriously calls into question the origins of lunar eclipses. A selenelion occurs when there is a lunar eclipse but the Moon and the Sun are both above the horizon. This is not geometrically possible. Officially, this is supposedly caused by light refraction. In other words, mainstream science has no clue and so made up the refraction excuse to explain it away. Again, as Joseph Jastrow said, "Create a belief in the theory and the facts will create themselves," no matter how unbelievable the supposed facts are.

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=QUkjb4bbjpc>
- https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ZFN8_LukQMw

In the following video, MrThriveAndSurvive demonstrates that a selenelion is impossible under the spherical model.

The Space Shuttle Hoax

Exhibit 13 – The Space Shuttle Hoax

Was the Space Shuttle an advanced space craft that could enter low-Earth orbit or a combination of a model (which was ditched off into the ocean at launch) and a peculiar looking jet that was used only at landing and incapable of even low-Earth orbit? There is substantial evidence of Space Shuttle fakery including one video where the Space Shuttle disappears at launch. Was the Challenger Disaster a real event or a hoax? It seems as though the Challenger Disaster astronauts are still very much alive; some with even the same name. Have you ever asked yourself why every schoolchild was required to be tuned in at the time of the Challenger Disaster – a bit coincidental don't you think? Supposedly, the Space Shuttle acts as a glider when it falls from space. It certainly doesn't look like a glider and the videos below seem to indicate that the Space Shuttle had jet engines that don't seem to come from any escort jet. Once you do the research, it becomes pretty evident that the Space Shuttle, along with the continuing ISS scam, was only a repeated hoax bought and paid for by the American taxpayer.

Dmurphy25 asks some very poignant questions especially whether the Space Shuttle really is a glider during its descent as claimed by NASA (see Part 2 below).

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=lchtwf5Fvhc> (dmurphy 25 – Flat Earth: The Biggest Lie of All – Part 1)
- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=TdoGTeM0koQ> (dmurphy 25 – Flat Earth: The Biggest Lie of All – Part 2)

Clear sound from the Space Shuttle's jet engines.

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=TsqrixJPwRs>

More problems of the Space Shuttle and more proof that the Space Shuttle is not a glider but a jet pretending to be a glider with escort jets.

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=VUK0i8kEMtU>

Is the Space Shuttle Challenger crew still alive? This compelling video says that the crew is still alive and many received comfortable teaching jobs in exchange for their deceptive efforts. Compare to this weak "debunking" article from Snopes (<http://www.snopes.com/politics/conspiracy/challenger.asp>). Do you really think that these are just doppelgängers with the same names and twins? What are the odds?

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=4HQSptqjp60>

Jungle Surfer makes some very valid points regarding the silliness of the Space Shuttle as it sits on a flimsy structure on takeoff.

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ZaeUunEUc3w>

Laughable footage of the Space Shuttle with a man's head accidentally next to the small model. Again, if they faked this one, then they probably faked all of it.

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=9plc5T4h-C4>

The Space Shuttle with a support beam.

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=daJfLsxTDvM>

The disappearing Space Shuttle (watch at 6:53).

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=6Mm6P9G6jGw>

In the next video, the Space Shuttle looks like a reinforced balloon or model with a visible tether pulling it up (probably tethered to another jet outside the view of the camera). Do you really think that this would have worked with a craft with a real weight of 165,000 pounds attached to a Boeing with only those tiny automated rods? I'm pretty certain that the Boeing, which was not made for carrying weight on top, would have collapsed under the extreme weight of the Space Shuttle.

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=v-YNcwc1ZME>

Here is a video from Jeranism showing a bunch more ridiculous clips of NASA's repeated fakery involving the Space Shuttle.

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=H1AyU7jgKvE>

Do you think the Space Shuttle actually went into space? Check out these two launches (all rockets take this trajectory). This also indicates that the Hubble Telescope is fake as well. SS52 has compiled many of these launch videos.

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=KyVqKXxmcFy>
- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=psFwO4MVLK4>
- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ZXYb405E01A>

As a comparison, look at this amateur rocket launch that goes straight up.

More proof of fakery associated with rocket launches. In this case, a person (or object) accidentally casts a shadow in front of the rocket and then bumps the rocket as it moves abnormally in front of the CGI earth (begin watching at 5:00).

The Sun and Moon are the Same Size

Exhibit 46 – The Sun and Moon are the Same Size

Our beloved scientist-parrots say that the Sun is 93 million miles away with a diameter of 864,938 miles. On the other hand, the Moon is 234,000 miles away with a diameter of 2,159 miles. However, the Sun and Moon just happen to appear as the same size from our perspective on Earth. What are the nearly impossible odds of this occurring? Or is it more likely that the Sun and Moon are just about the same size circling over a flat Earth? Again, the flat Earth model seems to be the better and simpler explanation. It seems that the distances and diameters of the Moon and Sun were only invented to fit the accepted model. In addition, the fact that the Sun and Moon rotate (like a door knob) the same distance throughout the same time period evinces that the Sun and Moon have a relationship which is not explained under the globe model.

The Sun is Not 93 Million Miles Away

Exhibit 21 – The Sun is Not 93 Million Miles Away

Time lapse videos, trigonometry, and crepuscular rays prove that the Sun cannot be 93 million miles away. For example, under certain conditions you can even see the Sun appear to start at a near point and grow many times bigger as it passes over the camera and then reduces in size as the Sun moves away toward the vanishing point. This would be impossible if the Sun was 93 million miles away. One of the most common objections to the flat Earth is the claim that a sunset is impossible on a flat Earth, i.e., the Sun should appear to move further away not get sliced from the bottom up. DITRH has a terrific video (below) that describes the three different kinds of sunsets which produce noticeably different results. These are the three different kinds of sunsets:

- Land Horizon (most common)
- Atmospheric Blocking (best at measuring the change of sun size)
- Cloud Horizon

Most people see the “Land Horizon” sunset on a daily basis and so have a mistaken conception of how the Sun works because the Sun is disappearing behind a mountain or land, not the curvature of the Earth. Also, keep in mind that the “Cloud Horizon” occurs very often (even over land) because perspective causes the clouds to “bunch up” at the horizon (more clouds over a given area) which causes the typical sunset like the “Land Horizon.” However, the “Atmospheric Blocking” sunset shows a clear change in the size of the Sun as the Sun moves away across the flat plane and shrinks to a near point. Several videos prove the same. If the Earth was a globe, there would NEVER be a change in the size of the Sun. Accordingly, these videos constitute a substantial proof that we do indeed live on a flat Earth.

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=B8Uj0FgDP38>

Time lapse of the Sun in Africa.

- https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=HRFU4V_RaCw

The whole now 10-part series by Shahzwar Bugti is terrific, but here's footage of a hot spot made by the Sun (Dog Cam footage) which proves that the Sun cannot be 93 million miles away (watch at 3:59). Globulists say that it's a reflection but it doesn't look like a reflection or act like a reflection as proven in the second video below from P-Brane.

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dumCW71SBgY>
- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=bghcu0gcJN0>

Here's another time lapse video of the winter Sun in Fairbanks, Alaska that shows a shrinking Sun.

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=rFZQwZzvXSE>

Watch the following video of a weather balloon and just look at the Sun and see for yourself that it's not 93 million miles away and may be very close.

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=9RtptsrNA6s>

A video shared by DITRH (made by Zeteticism DotCom) that shows how the Sun increases and decreases in size throughout the day – an impossibility if the Sun is 93 million miles away.

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=-9pLoDo94po>

Here's a time lapse video of the Sun on a flight provided through StinkyCash. Clearly, the Sun decreases in size as it moves towards the horizon and the decrease in size has nothing to do with mere degrees of luminosity in the atmosphere.

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=CcS6w4v3LQs>

From MrThriveAndSurvive: “When the record is checked – there is NO SYMMETRY with advancing light and darkness on the earth. Symmetry is geometry's mandate for a round sphere turning once on its axis in a given period of time. There is no acceleration or deceleration in this 'spin'. When date and time is analyzed for advancing sunrise and sunset, we find huge anomalies that can't be explained other than the sun moving over a flat plane and changing in its apparent height during the day. This opens up the possibility of looking at the flat earth map with some possible modifications, explains why time seems to work with the amount of daylight and darkness no matter how far north or south you are. A change in the altitude of the sun answers many problems that are present with the globe model and it also totally eliminates any hope for a concave model to work.”

The Vacuum of Space Against the Atmosphere

Exhibit 7 – The Vacuum of Space Against the Atmosphere

According to the official model, the vacuum of space surrounds our atmosphere and yet our atmosphere isn't sucked out into this enormous vacuum. What holds the atmosphere in place? Supposedly, gravity is the answer but our common sense says that gravity generated by the mass far below, which should have very little effect on the low-mass atmosphere, could not counteract the more powerful force resulting from the immeasurably immense vacuum of space.

Further, if gravity causes the atmosphere to be figuratively Velcroed to the Earth's surface, how does gas ever flow upward from the surface and escape the stronger force of gravity closer to the surface? One must also ask why the Moon's claimed gravitational pull has no effect on the Earth's atmosphere but still causes the tides. Global theorists counter that the mass of the atmosphere is so little that the Moon wouldn't have an effect on it; but if that's the case, how does the gravitational pull of the Earth counteract the powerful vacuum of space if gravity has so little effect?

Nature abhors a vacuum (horror vacui) and any pressure seeks to equalize with its surroundings and mainstream science has no good explanation of how our atmosphere parallel to a very large vacuum is maintained.

Dave Murphy explains this argument beginning at 6:18:

Tides and the Moon

Exhibit 19 – Tides and the Moon

Our controlled “science” says that the Moon’s gravitational pull causes the ocean tides. How can the Moon move oceans but has no effect on anything else, including large lakes (has very little effect) and rivers? Also, the Moon’s position seems to have no logical bearing on where the high tides are located. You would expect that the tides would clearly follow the Moon if they’re being pulled by the gravity from the Moon; however, the tides don’t exhibit such a relationship.

Furthermore, the tides simultaneously occur on the opposite side of the alleged globe, i.e., away from the Moon (through some 8,000 miles of ground). How does official “science” explain this phenomenon? Officials nonsensically say that the entire ground of the Earth is pulled up by the Moon which causes the ocean water to bulge at the opposite side from the Moon. Preposterous! Official “science” discovered another glaring problem with the tides and contrived absolutely silly “facts” – the daily Earth bounce – an immeasurable movement that has never been measured, felt, detected in relation to the stars, or had an impact on the Earth’s orbit. But of course, the Moon’s gravity has no effect on the Earth’s atmosphere, airplanes, weather balloons, rivers, lakes, the ISS, etc. but can still pull the ocean water even on the opposite side of the Earth by way of the Earth’s daily bounce? Remember that just because official “science” has a ridiculous explanation does not mean that the explanation is genuine.

Various Clues: the Illuminati Card Game, Gleason's 1892 Illuminati "New Standard Map of the Earth," and the U.N. Flag

Exhibit 33 – Various Clues: the Illuminati Card Game, Gleason's 1892 Illuminati "New Standard Map of the Earth," and the United Nations Flag

 UPDATE  I have since discovered that Alex Gleason was a genuine flat earther who created the Gleason map to represent what he considered the real flat earth map but the map is based on the very old Azimuthal Equidistant map which is also used by the USGS. Gleason wrote the book titled "Is the Bible From Heaven?" constituting a collection of arguments in support of the flat earth and supporting Bible references. I leave it here in this article as it's still fascinating. ****

Gleason's Map:

Most people have seen the creepy prescient Illuminati card game which has cards seemingly predicting the 9-11 attacks and the Boston Bombing and has a card which even correctly indicates that the moon landings were faked in a studio. Interestingly, the Illuminati card game also has a flat Earth card which says, "People laugh, but the Flat Earthers know something." As shown herein, the Flat Earthers do seem to "know something" that is being ignored by nearly everyone.

The Gleason's 1892 "New Standard Map of the Earth" includes a pyramid with an Illuminati all-seeing eye under which includes the words, "AS 'IT IS'" and the statement, "SCIENTIFICALLY AND PRACTICALLY CORRECT." Under the "June Solstice" paragraph at the bottom of the map, it reads:

"In the figures June and December, the white represents the Sun's position in his respective months, at NOON. This shows sunlight inside the Arctic Circle for 24 hours. From June 21, the Sun moves around the Tropics in a spiral circle, widening every day, until it reaches its destiny on the southern or outer Solstice, on December 21."

Under the subtitle "December Solstice," the map reads:

"On December 21, the Sun moves around the Tropic of Capricorn, and during the day lights up the southern portion of the Earth from the Arctic Circle to some portions of Antarctica. There is no 'sunlight' beyond 80° south but unknown regions of ice. On the 23rd of December the Sun commences his northward journey again, returning to his starting place, and thus completes his seasons."

In other words, the Gleason's map presents the flat Earth model. Interestingly, this was the same

View of the Moon When it Should Be on the Other Side of the Earth

Exhibit 36 – View of the Moon When it Should Be on the Other Side of the Earth

In the video below, a rocket was launched in northern Nevada up towards space and the footage catches a glimpse of the Moon very far away; however, the Moon should have been on the other side of the Earth, over Australia, at the time of the launch. Also, the Moon still looks far from the horizon. It seems from the video that the Sun and Moon are on the same horizontal plane (the Moon is not even close to the horizon) and proves the spherical model is wrong.

Water Seeks Its Own Level

Exhibit 3 – Water Seeks Its Own Level

The natural physics of water is to be level; even a small child can prove the same – “Water seeks its own level.” However, mainstream science wants you to ignore your experience and experimentation and instead believe that an invisible force, which cannot be replicated, detected, or proven in a lab, is responsible for bending oceans, lakes, and rivers and has created uniform spherical bulges in water measuring thousands of miles deep. When I first heard about the flat Earth, I assumed that gravity was well-proven in a lab since science says that gravity constitutes the driving force behind the formation of the universe. I was shocked to find out that gravity has never been proven and remains an unsubstantiated theory. Gravity is a farce that was created ex nihilo to only explain why we’re not flung from a ball spinning at 1,000 mph. Have you ever seen gravity bend water?

“The surface of all water, when not agitated by natural causes, such as winds, tides, earthquakes, etc., is perfectly level. The sense of sight proves this to every unprejudiced and reasonable mind. Can any so-called scientist, who teaches that the earth is a whirling globe, take a heap of liquid water, whirl it round, and so make rotundity? He cannot. Therefore it is utterly impossible to prove that an ocean is a whirling rotund section of a globular earth, rushing through ‘space’ at the lying-given-rate of false philosophers.”

– William Thomas Wiseman, “The Earth An Irregular Plane.”

Under the globe model, as a result of gravity, EVERY body of water, even small basins (although too small to measure), must be curved and match the appropriate curvature drop of the Earth.

Samuel Rowbotham wrote in “Zetetic Astronomy – Earth Not a Globe,” “If the earth is a globe, and is 25,000 English statute miles in circumference, the surface of all standing water must have a certain degree of convexity – every part must be an arc of a circle.”

<http://www.sacred-texts.com/earth/za/>.

Beginning in 1838, Samuel Rowbotham began a series of experiments on the Old Bedford River at the Bedford Level in Norfolk, England at a distance of 6 miles.

Essentially, Rowbotham marked a sign on a bridge and then traveled on a small boat down the river with a telescope affixed to the base of the boat at precisely 18 inches. He wrote, “As the boat receded the noticeboard was kept in view, and was plainly visible to the naked eye for several miles; but, through the telescope it was distinctly seen throughout the whole distance of six miles.” He then even lowered the telescope to 8 inches and still the sign was visible. At an observational height of 8 inches, and the boat being 6 miles away, there should have been a curvature drop of 16 feet 8 inches (i.e., the sign should have been completely hidden below the curvature). However, there was no measurable curvature as the sign was clearly visible.

The curvature math can be worked out here: <https://dizzib.github.io/earth/curve-calc/>

Rowbotham repeated the experiment in 1844, 1849, 1856, 1862, and 1870 (after the “official” faked test) – all with the same result – no curvature. Of course, “official” science claimed that Rowbotham was wrong and the experiment was a failure and so propagandists created a fake experiment with a maladjusted instrument in 1870 that resulted in failure. But we don’t have to take anyone’s word for it. To prove Rowbotham, we ourselves conducted our own test at 6 miles across a body of water to replicate the findings of Rowbotham and recorded the whole thing.

Here’s a video from Taboo Conspiracy proving Rowbotham:

Unequivocally, there was no curvature on the body of water as required by “official” science; ergo, the Earth is flat.

Some have countered by claiming that the flatness of the water is the result of refraction; however, “[r]efraction can only exist when the medium surrounding the observer is different to that in which the object is placed ... Being surrounded with atmospheric air only, and the observer being in the same medium, there is no bending or refraction of the eye line.” Rowbotham, Zetetic Astronomy. In most circumstances, refraction will not play a noticeable role as there is usually no measurable change in conditions (e.g., temperature, air pressure, moisture, etc.) between the two opposing points. Further, refraction, if it should have a noticeable impact, most certainly would not create the illusion that the Earth is flat but would instead produce a result similar to a Fata Morgana which looks like a distorted mirror with upside down images – not a clear visible flat horizon as shown in the video above.

Long rivers pose a problem under the globe model as the rivers eventually have to flow up the curvature. According to Eric Dubay’s “200 Proofs Earth is Not a Spinning Ball” (http://www.mediafire.com/view/l679prcg097ny8u/200_Proofs_Earth_is_Not_a_Spinning_Ball%21.pdf):

“Rivers run down to sea-level finding the easiest course, North, South, East, West and all other intermediary directions over the Earth at the same time. If Earth were truly a spinning ball then many of these rivers would be impossibly flowing uphill, for example the Mississippi in its 3000 miles would have to ascend 11 miles before reaching the Gulf of Mexico One portion of the Nile River flows for a thousand miles with a fall of only one foot. Parts of the West African Congo, according to the supposed inclination and movement of the ball-Earth, would be sometimes running uphill and sometimes down. This would also be the case for the Parana, Paraguay and other long rivers.”

Another proof of the flatness of water is the fact that under the sphere model, the bed of the ocean should be considerably less than the distance at the surface. Nevertheless, cables laid at the bottoms of the ocean, considering changes in terrain, etc., equal the distance at the surface. This shouldn’t happen.
